By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16.—Representative J. Howard Swick has forwarded to Postmaster General Farley petitions signed by hundreds of New Castle residents protesting Farley's recent order forcing payless furloughs upon postal workers.

In addition to protesting the order, petitions signed by the New Castle Motor Club, Loyal Order of Moose, German Beneficial Union, and South Side Board of Trade, all of New Castle, urged Mr. Swick to do everything possible to have the order rescinded. Other petitions, signed by more than 600 individual New Castle residents, objected to the payless holidays, as an "edict contrary to all recovery principles."

Dr. Swick said today he was steadfastly opposed to the Farley furlough order and regarded it as directly in conflict with the recovery program of the administration.

Preparatory work was started this morning on Moravia street, which will be resurfaced from Jefferson street to Long avenue, in the near future, State Highway Superintendent H. W. Lightner stated this morning. Service lines are being renewed now before work of resurfacing is started.

Eleven Freight Cars Wrecked Early Sunday

Accident Occurs On P. & L. E. Line At Wampum; No One Hurt

CARS IN CENTER OF TRAIN DERAILED

Thousand Feet Of Track Torn Up; Many Sightseers In Boro

Eleven steel gondolas were twisted, about 1000 feet of track torn up and iron ore scattered over the right of way Sunday morning when the cars left the main line P. & L. E. tracks at Wampum. The cause of the accident is unknown and officials of the company could not estimate the damage done. There were no injuries.

The ore train had cleared New Castle Junction sometime near three o'clock and was proceeding into Pittsburgh. On a curve east of Wampum, near a locked switch, the cars in the center of the train derailed and piled themselves helterskelter along the right of way, dumping the iron ore on both sides.

Tracks Repaired

Trackmen were called from McKees Rocks, New Castle and Youngstown and some hours later traffic was restored. Officials of the P. & L. E. in Pittsburgh today said they were investigating the cause of the accident.

All day long sight seers from New Castle and Ellwood, and other localities passed through Wampum in a steady stream. While the accident is listed as minor one by the road officials, it was a spectacular sight for a time.

Fortunately the main tracks are separated at this point by a considerable distance and it was possible to switch trains to the other track for east and westbound movements.

(International News Service)

MT. HOLLY, N. J., April 16.—A young woman, believed to be the only person who can definitely link the three prisoners with the slaying, today was being sought in the Bradway Brown murder case.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 16.—Spurred by glowing prospects of a successful season, thousands of anglers carried their shining rods to fresh water streams throughout Pennsylvania today with opening of the annual battle against the wary trout.

The season opened this morning at 12:01 a. m. and continues to July 31. Ordinarily it begins on April 15, yesterday, but Sunday fishing is prohibited in this state.

Streams Well Stocked

As a result of the extensive stocking program carried out last fall, the fish commission predicts the best trout season in 10 years, thousands of trout as long as ten and twelve inches were released from state hatcheries in streams in virtually every one of the 67 counties.

Streams throughout the state were believed in good condition generally. Fish wardens reported that creeks and runs, swollen by melting snow and heavy rains, are fast receding and will permit good fishing with worms and minnows.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 16.—On Sabbath day, with a newspaper hid behind my song book, I saw where the Republic of Ireland was about to do away with their senate.

Now, ordinarily, that looks like a popular move in any country. But this being Sunday, and having a generous feeling toward all-mankind (no matter how unfortunate his position), let's ask our Redeemer to not let us act too hastily in following Ireland's example.

Thou Almighty, Who seest all things, must know that as disciples there is not a St. Peter in the senate, and as for prophets, there is not a Moses in a car load. They seest not, but neither do the ones who sent 'em there see, so let's be charitable.

But Oh Gracious One, if Ireland should be right, help us to see the light immediately.

Amen.

Two-Mile Stretch Of Road To New Bedford Will Be Widened

ROUTE CARS OVER WASHINGTON STREET

U. S. highway route 422 for two miles to the west of New Castle was closed by the State Highway Department about noon, Manager Bernard N. Hanlon of the New Castle Motor Club announced. A detour was immediately set up.

The detour will take motorists out West Washington street and on over West Washington street extension to a road which connects with Parkstown corners. The detour, Hanlon said, will be plainly marked.

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, April 16.—Hollywood today mourned the passing of another "ideal marriage."

However, the breaking up of the marital ties between Joseph Schenck, noted producer, and Norma Talmadge, stage and screen star and member of the noted acting family, had been anticipated—despite frequent denials—for the last three years.

On the grounds of incompatibility, Miss Talmadge obtained a decree in the civil court of the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, and today was believed speeding towards New York.

Speculation in Movie circles centered on the possibility of her marriage to George Jessel, with whom she had been appearing on the stage in recent years.

New Castle Petitions Protest Furloughs Given Postal Workers

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16.—Representative J. Howard Swick has forwarded to Postmaster General Farley petitions signed by hundreds of New Castle residents protesting Farley's recent order forcing payless furloughs upon postal workers.

In addition to protesting the order, petitions signed by the New Castle Motor Club, Loyal Order of Moose, German Beneficial Union, and South Side Board of Trade, all of New Castle, urged Mr. Swick to do everything possible to have the order rescinded. Other petitions, signed by more than 600 individual New Castle residents, objected to the payless holidays, as an "edict contrary to all recovery principles."

Dr. Swick said today he was steadfastly opposed to the Farley furlough order and regarded it as directly in conflict with the recovery program of the administration.

Eleven Freight Cars Wrecked Early Sunday

CARS IN CENTER OF TRAIN DERAILED

Thousand Feet Of Track Torn Up; Many Sightseers In Boro

Eleven steel gondolas were twisted, about 1000 feet of track torn up and iron ore scattered over the right of way Sunday morning when the cars left the main line P. & L. E. tracks at Wampum. The cause of the accident is unknown and officials of the company could not estimate the damage done. There were no injuries.

The ore train had cleared New Castle Junction sometime near three o'clock and was proceeding into Pittsburgh. On a curve east of Wampum, near a locked switch, the cars in the center of the train derailed and piled themselves helterskelter along the right of way, dumping the iron ore on both sides.

Tracks Repaired

Trackmen were called from McKees Rocks, New Castle and Youngstown and some hours later traffic was restored. Officials of the P. & L. E. in Pittsburgh today said they were investigating the cause of the accident.

All day long sight seers from New Castle and Ellwood, and other localities passed through Wampum in a steady stream. While the accident is listed as minor one by the road officials, it was a spectacular sight for a time.

Fortunately the main tracks are separated at this point by a considerable distance and it was possible to switch trains to the other track for east and westbound movements.

Annual Season For Trout Opens Today And Thousands Take To Streams And Creeks

Will Close July 31, Governor Gifford Pinchot Out Bright And Early To Try Luck

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 16.—Spurred by glowing prospects of a successful season, thousands of anglers carried their shining rods to fresh water streams throughout Pennsylvania today with opening of the annual battle against the wary trout.

The season opened this morning at 12:01 a. m. and continues to July 31. Ordinarily it begins on April 15, yesterday, but Sunday fishing is prohibited in this state.

Streams Well Stocked

As a result of the extensive stocking program carried out last fall, the fish commission predicts the best trout season in 10 years, thousands of trout as long as ten and twelve inches were released from state hatcheries in streams in virtually every one of the 67 counties.

Gov. Gifford Pinchot, himself an ardent angler, also holds high hopes for a bountiful catch. He laid aside cares of state Saturday and left for his Milford estate where he will seek the speckled specie.

Streams throughout the state were believed in good condition generally. Fish wardens reported that creeks and runs, swollen by melting snow and heavy rains, are fast receding and will permit good fishing with worms and minnows.

Judge Brown began by denying the motion of counsel for the defendants for a trial without a jury.

"A jury will be chosen," he ruled.

Five Suicide In Philadelphia, Pa.

Three Of Suicides Over The Week-End Are In Late Sixties

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Five persons, three of them men in their late sixties, committed suicide here Sunday, according to the reports filed today by the coroner.

One of the suicides, a man of about 65, leaped into the Schuylkill river before the horrified gaze of promenaders along the East River drive. His body became wedged in between rocks four feet under water and was recovered by a medical student who leaped into the river fully clothed in a vain attempt at rescue.

The other four killed themselves with illuminating gas in their homes here. They were:

Samuel Steinrock, 63, who had been despondent because of his inability to find work; Jeremiah Downey, 60, who had been unemployed for two years; Mrs. Agnes Gray and an 18-year-old youth, Daniel Cannay. No reason could be scribed for the act of the woman or the youth.

TWO BILLIONS WILL BE ASKED BY ROOSEVELT

bank deposit guaranty law, passed in senate, pending in house.

Enactment of stock exchange bill with "teeth" in it.

Tax bill plugging up loopholes in present law.

Other measures desired by the administration are expected to be passed, including the Costigan sugar bill and municipal bankruptcy measure.

Some Measures Doomed

Measeures likely to be scrapped included the Wagner-Connery labor board bill, Wagner-Lewis unemployment insurance bill and Connery 30-hour work bill.

"The essential bills are the tariff, bank guaranty, stock exchange and tax bills," said Rep. Byrons of Tennessee, Democratic leader.

Speaker Rainey, detailed the administration view on other legislation as follows:

Communications control measure, not discussed at house conference.

Commodity exchange control bill, "not so important".

Unemployment insurance "may be considered if we have time but doubt it".

Wagner-Connery labor board bill, "being handled in codes".

Connery 30-hour week bill, "also being worked out in codes".

No new legislation to be asked by president outside of appropriations.

Byrns made the surprising statement that permanent air mail legislation is off the administration program.

"There is no real necessity for it," he said. "Temporary air mail bids are to be received April 20. Unless something develops, it is not imperative that we act on a permanent policy."

Both Rainey and Byrns insisted that the house could easily dispose of its business in two weeks and certainly by May 15.

The date of adjournment, they said, depends on the senate.

JUNIOR HADASSAH HEARS ADDRESS BY DR. PHILCO

Pittsburgh read the minutes of the last conference, and chairmen of the various committees were appointed Miss Minnie Spero of Butler gave the treasurers report for the year, showing the region had been most active in its work of carrying on the Palestinian projects.

Miss Goldberg gave a splendid report of the region during the past year: Miss Rheba Frank, New Castle, financial chairman: Esther Greensberger, Steubenville, Ohio organization chairman: Hilda Liberman, Pittsburgh, cultural chairman, Elizabeth Cramer, Pittsburgh, membership chairman: Jeanne Levinson, Pittsburgh, Young Judean chairman Sara Levine, Washington, Pa., Jewish national fund chairman: Rose Pricefield, Steubenville, speaker' bureau chairman and Mrs. S. J. Halfman, Pittsburgh, senior-junior relationship committee chairman; gave full reports of their departments activities showing a year of progression in all branches.

Luncheon Enjoyed

A delicious luncheon marked the hour of one, with lovely spring flowers used in decoration of the long tables, with places arranged for almost 200 in the ball room of the hotel.

Miss Frank gave the opening address following the serving and introduced Miss Rose Levin of Pittsburgh, who had the invocation then Miss Anne Shifman acted as toastmistress, cleverly introducing the various speakers.

Miss Dorothy Fisher, well known young pianiste of the city played Beethoven's "First Movement of the Appassionata" as the first number of the afternoon's entertainment.

Mrs. L. F. Kohn, president of the local Senior Hadassah brought gracious greetings from the mother chapter, saying New Castle was highly honored by the convention, this being the first time a Hadassah conference had been here.

Miss Mary Pittler, president of the hostess chapter, extended greetings to the visiting members and visitors after which Mrs. Florence Weinberg Slavon, accompanied by Esther Zudenstein of Pittsburgh, sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and a "Spring Song."

Mrs. J. N. Hurwitz, Pittsburgh, regional president of Senior Hadassah brought greetings from the senior region and congratulated the juniors on the splendid manner in which they are carrying on the work of the organization preparing themselves to step into the places which will later become vacant in the senior chapter.

Dr. Philo Speaks

The climax of the conference came when Dr. I. E. Philo, rabbi of Rodef Sholem congregation of Youngstown, Ohio, forcefully and eloquently addressed the group on a subject dear to the heart of every loyal Jew.

He chose as his subject for the day "The World Scene and the Jew" and after congratulating the young Hadassah members of their splendid achievements and saying that "Hadassah has kept alive the love for Palestine in the heart of the Jew" he launched into his subject and painted most vividly to his rapt audience a not too colorful picture of the status of Jewry throughout the world today.

"The Jew today is not secure in any land of the world" he said, and proceeded to tell how politically, religiously and economically, forces are combined to destroy him, but, he continued, the Jew has withstood all kinds of persecutions and today the question is "Can the Jew Survive?" for it seems there is a conspiracy to drive him off the earth.

"In Russia there is no future for the Jew" he said, and went on to relate the hardships of the Russian Jew, saying that Sovietism, in one form or another, is spreading all over the world today, but that Judaism and Sovietism are not compatible.

He spoke of the Jewish position in Poland, how the heel of Pilsudski is grinding the Jew, making his position worse there than in any other part of the world, being ground into poverty and persecution.

In speaking of the Italian Jew, he said there were not many of these, and what there are, are more Italian than Jew, keeping aloof from the rest of the Jews.

In Austria and Hungary he spoke of the fear of the Jews for their status as citizens. In France he said the German refugees had received hospitality, but he feared the effect of Hitlerism even here.

"The Jew is doomed in Germany" was his statement regarding the German situation, saying that the Jew was never made to feel at home in that country.

"There are only two bright spots in the world for Jewry, to save the scene from being hopeless England and America", he continued, "and even the American scene is disquieting to the Jew."

"What can the Jew Do?" he asked and in answering his own question he said the Jews must stand, plan and work for the hope of Israel and humanity. He said Jewish individualism is destructive to Jewish solidarity and he urged the banding together of all Jews and the organization of all forces to further the sanctity of Jewry.

He concluded by saying that there should be a world league of Jewish youth, under one leadership, to build up Palestine as a home for the expatriated Jew.

A rising of every one in the audience showed the appreciation of the heart-felt address brought by Dr. Philo.

Business Concluded

The remaining business of the conference was quickly concluded after Dr. Philo had finished speaking, with Miss Goldberg giving the Palestinian report; Miss Ina Rosenberg, the credentials committee report; Lillian Carp, the resolutions report and Ida Grossman the nominating committee report.

The election resulted in Miss Eva L. Goldberg of Steubenville, being again chosen to lead the region for another year; Hilda Lieberman, Pittsburgh, and Miss Rheba Frank, New Castle, vice president; Esther Fisher, Steubenville, corresponding secretary; Helen Routman, Sharon, treasurer and Pauline Rubin, Pittsburgh, recording secretary.

After expressions of congratulation to all those who had so successfully arranged the conference, the group disbanded.

McLeod Bill Backers Will Seek Action

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Sponsers of the McLeod bill to pay off depositors in closed banks were confident today that bank depositors' relief would be forced before Congress adjourns.

With one-third of the House and a large number of senators already on record for the bill, it promised to become a storm center until some agreement is reached with the administration.

Backers of the measure declined to accept President Roosevelt's jocular references to reimbursement of persons who lost money in banks many years ago or in private business as an answer to their contentions.

A conference will be sought with the President to explain in detail the bill and the reasons which prompted 145 House members to speedily sign a petition to bring it to the floor.

FAITH
Spring time and flowers and an awakening of the good sense of the American people.
Many of our long sponsored ideas coming to pass. First, the guaranteeing of bank deposits, which we have advocated for years. Second, the use of Eastern Standard Time in our local community, for which we have fought for years.
Now we see a move on foot in Washington to release the millions of dollars which belongs to the public and is tied up in banks. This has been our idea from the very day the banks were closed. These are all moral obligations one man owes to his brother. The releasing of the money now tied up in banks, would be one of the greatest moves of our present administration, or the improvement of business and bringing back FAITH to our country.

INSULL'S SHIP PROGRESSES HOMEWARD

Ship Is Due At Catania, Tuesday

Insull Declares He Did Not "Run Away From Chicago"

REFUSED PERMIT FOR ENGINE ROOM

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD S. S. EXILONA, AT SEA, April 16.—Samuel Insull, having the run of the ship on his extradition voyage from Turkey to the United States States, was refused a requested liberty for the first time on the trip today.

The indicted Chicago former utilities magnate indicated a desire to visit the Exilona's engine room, but he was refused permission by Capt. Wenzel Habel.

Capt. Habel explained he could afford to take no chances with the possibility of an accident on the steep ladders and stairways leading down to the motors of this combination freighter and passenger vessel.

In Sicily Tomorrow.

The Exilona was making good progress toward Catania, Sicily, where she is due tomorrow.

Insull has become very popular on shipboard, chatting freely with Capt. Habel, Burton Y. Berry, young attache of the United States embassy in Turkey, his fellow passengers and newspaper correspondents.

Insull yesterday told his audience he did "not run away from Chicago" when his vast utilities empire collapsed, but that he left the United States because he "had a perfect right to go abroad."

"There was no talk of criminal action when I left," Insull declared, "and I left as any other normal person would have done."

Some Measures Doomed

Measeures likely to be scrapped included the Wagner-Connery labor board bill, Wagner-Lewis unemployment insurance bill and Connery 30-hour work bill.

"The essential bills are the tariff, bank guaranty, stock exchange and tax bills," said Rep. Byrons of Tennessee, Democratic leader.

Speaker Rainey, detailed the administration view on other legislation as follows:

Communications control measure, not discussed at house conference.

Commodity exchange control bill, "not so important".

Unemployment insurance "may be considered if we have time but doubt it".

Wagner-Connery labor board bill, "being handled in codes".

Connery 30-hour week bill, "also being worked out in codes".

No new legislation to be asked by president outside of appropriations.

Byrns made the surprising statement that permanent air mail legislation is off the administration program.

"There is no real necessity for it," he said. "Temporary air mail bids are to be received April 20. Unless something develops, it is not imperative that we act on a permanent policy."

Both Rainey and Byrns insisted that the house could easily dispose of its business in two weeks and certainly by May 15.

The date of adjournment, they said, depends on the senate.

Pittsburgh read the minutes of the last conference, and chairmen of the various committees were appointed Miss Minnie Spero of Butler gave the treasurers report for the year, showing the region had been most active in its work of carrying on the Palestinian projects.

Miss Goldberg gave a splendid report of the region during the past year: Miss Rheba Frank, New Castle, financial chairman: Esther Greensberger, Steubenville, Ohio organization chairman: Hilda Liberman, Pittsburgh, cultural chairman, Elizabeth Cramer, Pittsburgh, membership chairman: Jeanne Levinson, Pittsburgh, Young Judean chairman Sara Levine, Washington, Pa., Jewish national fund chairman: Rose Pricefield, Steubenville, speaker' bureau chairman and Mrs. S. J. Halfman, Pittsburgh, senior-junior relationship committee chairman: gave full reports of their departments activities showing a year of progression in all branches.

Luncheon Enjoyed

A delicious luncheon marked the hour of one, with lovely spring flowers used in decoration of the long tables, with places arranged for almost 200 in the ball room of the hotel.

Miss Frank gave the opening address following the serving and introduced Miss Rose Levin of Pittsburgh, who had the invocation then Miss Anne Shifman acted as toastmistress, cleverly introducing the various speakers.

Miss Dorothy Fisher, well known young pianiste of the city played Beethoven's "First Movement of the Appassionata" as the first number of the afternoon's entertainment.

Mrs. L. F. Kohn, president of the local Senior Hadassah brought gracious greetings from the mother chapter, saying New Castle was highly honored by the convention, this being the first time a Hadassah conference had been here.

Miss Mary Pittler, president of the hostess chapter, extended greetings to the visiting members and visitors after which Mrs. Florence Weinberg Slavon, accompanied by Esther Zudenstein of Pittsburgh, sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and a "Spring Song."

Mrs. J. N. Hurwitz, Pittsburgh, regional president of Senior Hadassah brought greetings from the senior region and congratulated the juniors on the splendid manner in which they are carrying on the work of the organization preparing themselves to step into the places which will later become vacant in the senior chapter.

Dr. Philo Speaks

The climax of the conference came when Dr. I. E. Philo, rabbi of Rodef Sholem congregation of Youngstown, Ohio, forcefully and eloquently addressed the group on a subject dear to the heart of every loyal Jew.

He chose as his subject for the day "The World Scene and the Jew" and after congratulating the young Hadassah members of their splendid achievements and saying that "Hadassah has kept alive the love for Palestine in the heart of the Jew" he launched into his subject and painted most vividly to his rapt audience a not too colorful picture of the status of Jewry throughout the world today.

"The Jew today is not secure in any land of the world" he said, and proceeded to tell how politically, religiously and economically, forces are combined to destroy him, but, he continued, the Jew has withstood all kinds of persecutions and today the question is "Can the Jew Survive?" for it seems there is a conspiracy to drive him off the earth.

"In Russia there is no future for the Jew" he said, and went on to relate the hardships of the Russian Jew, saying that Sovietism, in one form or another, is spreading all over the world today, but that Judaism and Sovietism are not compatible.

He spoke of the Jewish position in Poland, how the heel of Pilsudski is grinding the Jew, making his position worse there than in any other part of the world, being ground into poverty and persecution.

In speaking of the Italian Jew, he said there were not many of these, and what there are, are more Italian than Jew, keeping aloof from the rest of the Jews.

In Austria and Hungary he spoke of the fear of the Jews for their status as citizens. In France he said the German refugees had received hospitality, but he feared the effect of Hitlerism even here.

"The Jew is doomed in Germany" was his statement regarding the German situation, saying that the Jew was never made to feel at home in that country.

"There are only two bright spots in the world for Jewry, to save the scene from being hopeless England and America", he continued, "and even the American scene is disquieting to the Jew."

"What can the Jew Do?" he asked and in answering his own question he said the Jews must stand, plan and work for the hope of Israel and humanity. He said Jewish individualism is destructive to Jewish solidarity and he urged the banding together of all Jews and the organization of all forces to further the sanctity of Jewry.

He concluded by saying that there should be a world league of Jewish youth, under one leadership, to build up Palestine as a home for the expatriated Jew.

A rising of every one in the audience showed the appreciation of the heart-felt address brought by Dr. Philo.

Business Concluded

The remaining business of the conference was quickly concluded after Dr. Philo had finished speaking, with Miss Goldberg giving the Palestinian report; Miss Ina Rosenberg, the credentials committee report; Lillian Carp, the resolutions report and Ida Grossman the nominating committee report.

The election resulted in Miss Eva L. Goldberg of Steubenville, being again chosen to lead the region for another year; Hilda Lieberman, Pittsburgh, and Miss Rheba Frank, New Castle, vice president; Esther Fisher, Steubenville, corresponding secretary; Helen Routman, Sharon, treasurer and Pauline Rubin, Pittsburgh, recording secretary.

After expressions of congratulation to all those who had so successfully arranged the conference, the group disbanded.

McLeod Bill Backers Will Seek Action

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Sponsors of the McLeod bill to pay off depositors in closed banks were confident today that bank depositors' relief would be forced before Congress adjourns.

With one-third of the House and a large number of senators already on record for the bill, it promised to become a storm center until some agreement is reached with the administration.

Backers of the measure declined to accept President Roosevelt's jocular references to reimbursement of persons who lost money in banks many years ago or in private business as an answer to their contentions.

A conference will be sought with the President to explain in detail the bill and the reasons which prompted 145 House members to speedily sign a petition to bring it to the floor.

FAITH
Spring time and flowers and an awakening of the good sense of the American people.
Many of our long sponsored ideas coming to pass. First, the guarantecing of bank deposits, which we have advocated for years. Second, the use of Eastern Standard Time in our local community, for which we have fought for years.
Now we see a move on foot in Washington to release the millions of dollars which belongs to the public and is tied up in banks. This has been our idea from the very day the banks were closed. These are all moral obligations one man owes to his brother. The releasing of the money now tied up in banks, would be one of the greatest moves of our present administration, or the improvement of business and bringing back FAITH to our country.

INSULL'S SHIP PROGRESSES HOMEWARD

Ship Is Due At Catania, Tuesday

REFUSED PERMIT FOR ENGINE ROOM

International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD S. S. EXILONA, AT SEA, April 16.—Samuel Insull, having the run of the ship on his extradition voyage from Turkey to the United States States, was refused a requested liberty for the first time on the trip today.

The indicted Chicago former utilities magnate indicated a desire to visit the Exilona's engine room, but he was refused permission by Capt. Wenzel Habel.

Capt. Habel explained he could afford to take no chances with the possibility of an accident on the steep ladders and stairways leading down to the motors of this combination freighter and passenger vessel.

In Sicily Tomorrow.

The Exilona was making good progress toward Catania, Sicily, where she is due tomorrow.

Insull has become very popular on shipboard, chatting freely with Capt. Habel, Burton Y. Berry, young attache of the United States embassy in Turkey, his fellow passengers and newspaper correspondents.

Insull yesterday told his audience he did "not run away from Chicago" when his vast utilities empire collapsed, but that he left the United States because he "had a perfect right to go abroad."

"There was no talk of criminal action when I left," Insull declared, "and I left as any other normal person would have done."

Five Suicide In Philadelphia, Pa.

Three Of Suicides Over The Week-End Are In Late Sixties

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Five persons, three of them men in their late sixties, committed suicide here Sunday, according to the reports filed today by the coroner.

One of the suicides, a man of about 65, leaped into the Schuylkill river before the horrified gaze of promenaders along the East River drive. His body became wedged in between rocks four feet under water and was recovered by a medical student who leaped into the river fully clothed in a vain attempt at rescue.

The other four killed themselves with illuminating gas in their homes here. They were:

Samuel Steinrock, 63, who had been despondent because of his inability to find work: Jeremiah Downey, 60, who had been unemployed for two years; Mrs. Agnes Gray and an 18-year-old youth, Daniel Cannay. No reason could be scribed for the act of the woman or the youth.

McLeod Bill Backers Will Seek Action

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Sponsors of the McLeod bill to pay off depositors in closed banks were confident today that bank depositors' relief would be forced before Congress adjourns.

With one-third of the House and a large number of senators already on record for the bill, it promised to become a storm center until some agreement is reached with the administration.

Backers of the measure declined to accept President Roosevelt's jocular references to reimbursement of persons who lost money in banks many years ago or in private business as an answer to their contentions.

A conference will be sought with the President to explain in detail the bill and the reasons which prompted 145 House members to speedily sign a petition to bring it to the floor.

FAITH
Spring time and flowers and an awakening of the good sense of the American people.
Many of our long sponsored ideas coming to pass. First, the guaranteeing of bank deposits, which we have advocated for years. Second, the use of Eastern Standard Time in our local community, for which we have fought for years.
Now we see a move on foot in Washington to release the millions of dollars which belongs to the public and is tied up in banks. This has been our idea from the very day the banks were closed. These are all moral obligations one man owes to his brother. The releasing of the money now tied up in banks, would be one of the greatest moves of our present administration, or the improvement of business and bringing back FAITH to our country.

MISS HELEN McBRIDE BRIDE OF W. W. DILL

April showers, and this past week April snows, not only bring May flowers but numerous engagement and wedding announcements, April seemingly vieing with June in these events this year.

Saturday there was a wedding of local interest in the parsonage of the Central Presbyterian church on Park avenue, when Miss Helen F. McBride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. McBride of Cleveland, became the bride of William Wade Dill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Dill, also of Cleveland.

Dr. C. B. Wingerd performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by the bride's father, the parents of the groom, all of Cleveland, and Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Clark of Croton avenue, this city.

After the wedding a dinner was served in the Castleton Hotel and later Mr. and Mrs. Dill left for Cleveland, where they will reside.

The McBride family formerly resided in New Castle and the bride is a graduate of the New Castle high school. She also attended Wooster College. She is a cousin of Miss Dorothy White of East North street and City Solicitor Robert M. White of Hazelcroft avenue.

Matthews, in May.

Bridge was the diversion with lovely prizes being awarded to Misses Margaret Hertzler and Viola Ford.

We Fu Club associates complimented one of their number, Mrs. Alfred Williams, a recent bride who will be remembered as Miss Thora Stevenson, when they were entertained at a beautifully appointed one o'clock luncheon in the home of Mrs. Robert Allshouse on Morton St.

A dainty color scheme in pink and white was effective throughout appointments with spring flowers centering the tables.

UNSOUND IMMIGRATION THEORY

ONE of the largest New York newspapers is advocating a theory that the way to take care of surplus production of foodstuffs, and staples in the United States, is to let down the immigration bars and allow ten to twenty-five million more people come into the United States.

The theory is that with this gigantic addition to the consuming power of the United States, there would be American markets for the present surplus.

On the side of the increased consumption the theory may sound good.

But, from a common sense point of view, it is absurd.

With millions unemployed in the United States at the present time, the addition of millions of immigrants would but add to that list, it is certain. How would this army of immigrants become purchasers of American surplus crops?

There is no question but that increased population would mean increased demand for goods and for foodstuffs. But, jobless, how would this addition to the population be enabled to pay for their needs?

No, immense increasing of immigration to the United States will not solve any present day problem of this country.

It's akin to some of the theories now being tried in the nation whereby the government on one hand doles out millions to residents of one sections for curtailing production of their crops, and on the other hand gives out millions to increase irrigation and make additional land for crop cultivation.

NEED FOR PUBLIC TENNIS COURTS

Mention has been made to us frequently of the the fact that some local effort should be made this summer, to have public tennis courts provided for the boys and girls of the city.

This is a matter that should get serious attention at city hall.

Several seasons, public tennis courts were maintained in parts of the city, and were much enjoyed by the youth. Last summer, the city made no effort to maintain the courts.

There are several on Boyles field that could be made suitable for play at small expense. There are others in different localities that are available, and doubtless the city has numerous properties that could be utilized for public play of this sort.

Of course, it is realized that the matter of expense has been the cause of curtailment of tennis court maintenance. Couldn't some method be worked out, whereby the courts might be made self sustaining?

At any rate, this is a proposition that should be given some attention, and is not one of such magnitude that it cannot be carried through.

AUTO PROBLEM IN ENGLAND

Rapidly growing automobile fatalities have brought about a situation in England similar to that in the United States. The problem of prevention has become an urgent one.

Last year 7,202 persons were killed and 216,329 injured in the United Kingdom.

These figures have served to arouse the public as well as officials to the necessity of finding means of reducing automobile accidents. Among steps already taken is the introduction of a system of safety zones for pedestrians in London. But fatalities are by no means confined to London and other cities. Many occur in the rural districts. In an effort to deal with this condition, a bill has been introduced in parliment to require the institution of special crossings in the country and to penalize pedestrians who walk dangerously with respect to automobile traffic.

England has an enviable record in law enforcement and the prevention of crime. The automobile safety problem is hardly less important than the crime problem. The United States has failed to solve it through either law or education. England's handling of it, therefore, will be followed with interest in this country, where the situation has reached a critical stage.

TREES IN THE CITY

A small boy looks on a tree as a challenge to his anthropoid inheritance and the endurance of his trousers or as a standing invitation to build therein a tree house at the risk of his young neck. A tree surgeon estimates it in terms of caveties and arboreal diseases. A lumberman measures the giant monarch of the forest in board feet. The landscape architect considers the trees in relation to its surroundings.

But plain people who must live and work in congested communities need to do great honor to the friendly tree and regard it, care for it and preserve it for its infinite capacity for making community life bearable. There must be trees in the city, if the air is to be pure and sweet, summer nights cool and streets and gardens beautiful to gaze upon.

Let the lumberman have their way with timber lands that lie far from crowded towns, but let them spare that tree which has grown old and lovely at the city's back door. No trifling profit that can be cut out of its heart in a sawmill can compensate for the spiritual loss of its company.

Cities and towns whose streets are still arched with healthy living trees and whose homes are set in tree-studded lawns can benefit from the experience of those communities which found trees in the way and ruthlessly leveled them only to discover that trees contribute much toward making city life comfortable and pleasant. Many cities which discovered the worth of the tree too late are now planting new shade trees along their thoroughfares at great cost.

A hick town is a place where a hustler can make money faster than his women folk can find places to spend it.

Women came off with first honors in a test of automobile drivers in Salt Lake City. Probably got their training from the back seat.

If this was a poker game, doubtless the big fellows would win all the chips and then the government would issue free chips to keep the game going.

A judge at a beauty contest in Canada dropped dead while viewing the parading entries. But this will not cause any scarcity of beauty judges in Canada or on this side of the line.

The stork seems to be one old bird not affected by the depression. A survey shows that between 1929 and 1932, 39 per cent more babies were born in families of wage earners whose pay had been cut than in those of workers who received no cuts.

MR. COWDEN WRITES AGAIN

Editor, The News:
Dear Sir:

Well the question of a new court house bobs up once more. This time the court has decided the county will have to pay $7,800 for about $500 worth of work. Some more good financing in the interest of the taxpayer.

The last grand jury is deserving of the thanks of the taxpayers of the county, notwithstanding the action of Rev. Joshua. The writer of this article is old-fashioned enough to believe that the business of the preacher is to preach the gospel and not work in season and out of season to bring about the building of a viaduct, new court house and devise other means to squander the hardearned taxes of the people and plunge the county deeper into debt for something we can do without very well at the present time.

Our commissioners have demonstrated again and again that they have no regard for the wishes of the taxpayers of the county. I would not hesitate to say that four-fifths of the voters of the county and nine-tenths of the taxpayers are opposed to the building of the courthouse at this time. In view of this fact, we wonder what kind of a song any member of the present board of commissioners would sing when he went around among the farmers and working men. If any of them have nerve enough to run for another term, what he will hear will be plenty. He may hear some things that would not look nice in print and would not be at all suitable for a Sunday school address, but it will be clear cut, concise and right to the point.

Every farmer in the county is taking less for what he has to sell and paying more for what he has to buy and many of them are in danger of losing their farms. Times are harder for the farmer than they were a year ago and no relief is in sight.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TEAM WORK.

Two men were out shooting, when suddenly a policeman popped up and demanded to see their licenses. One immediately took to his heels, and the cop rushed off in pursuit, which continued for ten minutes before the man was caught. The latter surprised his captor by fishing a hunting license out of his pocket and presenting it.

"Why the dickens did you bolt when you had a license?" queried the cop.

"Well, you see, officer," was the calm reply, "the other chap hadn't."

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

DON'T BE A BUSY BODY

Do you frequently interrupt the conversation of others?

Whether the one speaking has finished or not, or upon whatever subject he may be talking, you wrest attention from him.

You made no apologies for your rudeness.

What you have to present is of more importance to you than anything anyone else might say.

You would not put it in that way, but your actions speak louder than words.

And your unsolicited advice is always given.

You are most annoying when you interrupt two persons who are talking.

This sort of individual is most numerous in clubs.

Just before the meeting is called to order is the time when he insists upon visiting with everybody.

Instead of becoming a listener, he seeks to monopolize attention.

THE BOASTER

Fortune had smiled on him, and still he seemed Uncertain of his victory, as though
His right to it perhaps we might not know.
A waiter entered and he fairly screamed
A simple order, then to us he turned,
Saying: "This little lesson I have learned:
Keep men afraid of you and they'll obey.
That's why I'm standing at the top today!"

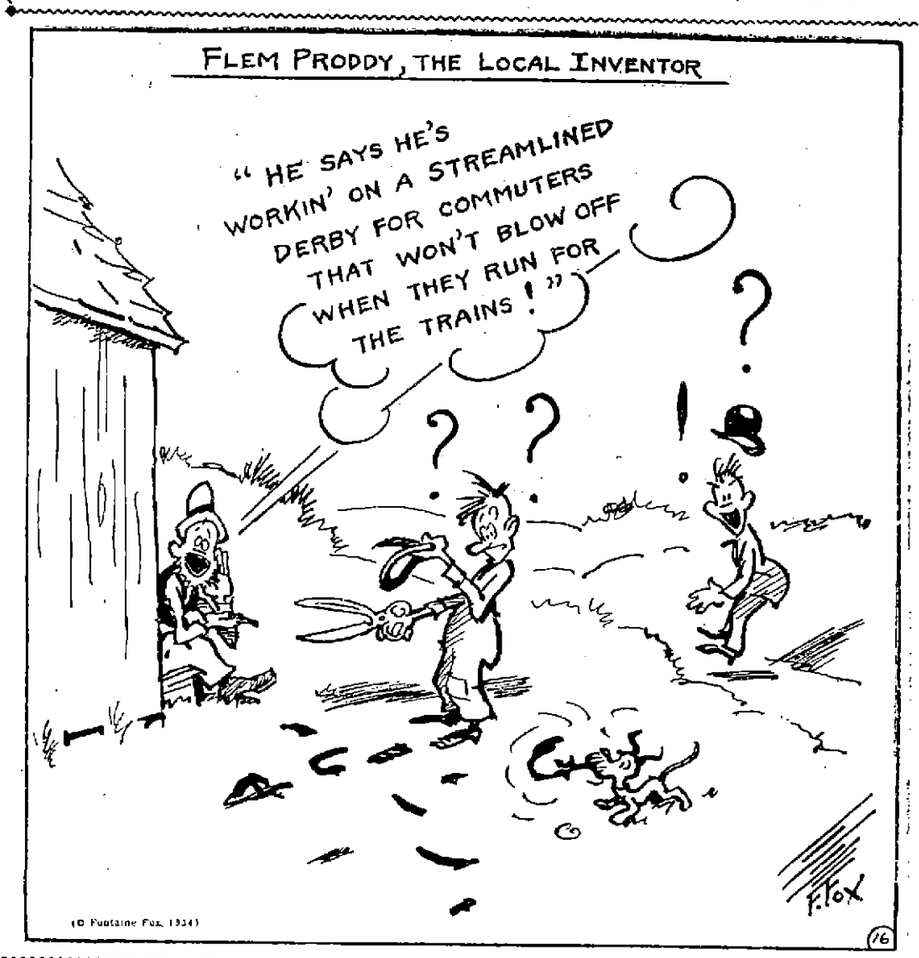

I caught a twinkle in the waiter's eye
And knew he laughed behind his patron's back.
I heard a flatterer answer: "Wise old Jack!"
But from his wife I'm sure I caught a sigh.
I thought, she knows him better than the most.
She knows just why he feels the need to boast.
He is afraid that we shall fail to see
How very big a little man can be.

Now I have three good reasons for this: In the first place, I don't know any better. Second, half of you wouldn't understand it if I did use it. Third, if I did speak and write correctly, I might be writing a column on a big New York paper at a large salary and you farmers would lose the best editor in Kansas!"

But I'll have to confess, as we go to press,
I'm one hundred per cent for you.

"Nationalization" New Bugaboo Wall Street Washes Hands Of Wirt. Congress May Peer Into Propaganda

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 16.—The next session of congress may inquire into all the propaganda that has been directed at it this session by Wall Street.

The sums spent in attempts to defeat or nullify the stock exchange regulation bill and the Wagner labor bill may surpass anything spent in the "golden days" of the past to squelch legislation.

Even hardened legislators have been stunned by the amount of propaganda, so much stunned, indeed that they have feared the people were "falling" for it. And members of congress are peculiarly sensitive to what "the people fall for."

The campaign has been a clever one.

All the more recent Roosevelt measures (except the reciprocal tariff bill) have been the objects of under-water torpedoing.

* * *

NATIONALIZATION

Wall Street sees nationalization at hand. It says that a simple measure putting the direction of all the industries under codes into a single hand—a central committee (sounds communistic, doesn't it?)—would complete the job with hardly anyone realizing what had been accomplished.

Congressional authority would be needed. Wall Street won't sleep until congress adjourns.

* * *

The "washout" of William A. Wirt, Gary, Ind., school superintendent, as a critic of the New Deal was O. K. to Wall Street.

The Big Men of Business look with more suspicion on the group with which Wirt is associated than at the New Dealers.

The Committee of the Nation, composed of some highly estimable persons, is for a silver purchase bill. The Big Men see in that bill the basis of Inflation with a capital "I".

Possible further depreciation of the dollar gives Big Business the chills. "If you get prices to 1926 levels by such means, you may expect a worse crash than 1929." Big Business warns.

No, it takes a more subtle attack than the Wirt kind to stop the New Dealers, Wall Street says. Besides the ribbing given the school principal's remarks will prevent criticism being taken seriously for some time to come. Big Business thinkers are thinking.

OUT AFIELD

A scout who has just toured the United States from Maine to California, and from the Canadian to the Mexican borders, turns in this report:

"Everywhere there is criticism of the New Deal. But everywhere, too, President Roosevelt is held apart, as a savior. If an election were to be held today, his vote would be heavier than ever."

MAIDS WRITE DIRECT

Hotel maids writing directly to President Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Perkins have brought action in New York. The state labor department have placed hotels under the minimum wage law.

A maid in a fashionable residential hotel wrote to the labor department:

"Where is the labor law? We work seven days a week and over eight hours a day. Think of us, if not, we will write to the president, and see what he can do."

And write the maids did.

Maids in one hotel complained that they were permitted to take off only one day out of every 17—provided they would forego pay for that day.

MRS. ROOSEVELT

Women workers have begun to look on Mrs. Roosevelt, the president's wife, as their greatest champion.

The fullness of Mrs. Roosevelt's endeavors may not become known for years to come.

She is at almost the top rung of the New Dealers.

MORE AVIATION TROUBLE

Not all the troubles of the United Aircraft & Transport corporation come from airmale contract cancellations.

The company is being criticized by stockholders for failing to make a complete accounting of transactions between subsidiary companies.

As the New York Sun financial column remarks:

"For 1933 it admits that the so-called 'consolidated' profit and loss statement includes an undisclosed amount of profits received by the Boeing Airplane company, a 100 per cent owned subsidiary, from the sale of equipment to United Air Lines, Inc., also 100 per cent owned. These profits constituted a 'substantial portion' of the operating income. In the light of the unfortunate experience with Gillette (safety razor) a few years ago, this incident would stand a little more complete report to stockholders."

Stockholders also have not forgotten disclosures how organizers of some of the air companies 'cleaned up" millions (through stock sales) with only a few hundred dollars' investment.

MONDAY, APRIL 16

History's Great Days—April 16. 1651—The Province of East New Jersey was offered for sale in England for the equivalent of $25,000!

Early next year it was put up at public auction by eight trustees to whom it had been left by Sir George Carteret to be administered for the benefit of his creditors, and was purchased by William Penn and 11 associates for approximately $17,000. Each of these 12 sold half his share to another associate, so the province had 24 proprietors.

Penn and other Quakers already controlled West Jersey. They made one colony of East and West Jersey, but had two capitals—Burlington and Perth Amboy—where the legislature met alternately—until 1790, when Trenton became the seat of government.

April 16, 1786—The first American play performed successfully on an American stage had its premiere at the John Street Theatre, New York. It was The Contrast, a five act comedy by Royall Tyler, 29, prodigy who received degrees from both Yale and Harvard when he was 19. (At 37 he was a justice of the Supreme Court of Vermont.)

Star of The Contrast was Thomas Wignell, comedian who made the role of Jonathan the prototype of the Yankee character who became first Uncle Jonathan and, by anology, Uncle Sam.

In the play there is represented a countryman, who having dropped into a theater in expectation of seeing a "hocus-pocus man," sits out a performance of the School of Scandal with no idea that he actually has seen the play.

"I vow," says Jonathan, "as I was looking out for him, they lifted up the great green cloth (the curtain), and let us look right into a neighbor's house." At the close he demands back his money, as he had seen nothing "unless you call listening to people's private business a sight."

April 16, 1818—London was given the first exhibition of the kaleidoscope, which soon became the favorite indoor sport of Old and New Worlds. It was the invention of Dr. David Brewster, 37, Scotch physicist who also perfected the stereoscope.

April 16, 1861—The Pony Express became out-of-date a year after it was established, as the first transcontinental telegraph line, between St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Calif., was completed.

This was eight years before the first transcontinental railroad was opened.

As late as 1817, one Abraham Thornton challenged under this law the brother of the woman he was accused of murdering. The brother refused to fight, and Thornton was discharged.

UNSOUND IMMIGRATION THEORY

ONE of the largest New York newspapers is advocating a theory that the way to take care of surplus production of foodstuffs, and staples in the United States, is to let down the immigration bars and allow ten to twenty-five million more people come into the United States.

The theory is that with this gigantic addition to the consuming power of the United States, there would be American markets for the present surplus.

On the side of the increased consumption the theory may sound good.

But, from a common sense point of view, it is absurd.

With millions unemployed in the United States at the present time, the addition of millions of immigrants would but add to that list, it is certain. How would this army of immigrants become purchasers of American surplus crops?

There is no question but that increased population would mean increased demand for goods and for foodstuffs. But, jobless, how would this addition to the population be enabled to pay for their needs?

No, immense increasing of immigration to the United States will not solve any present day problem of this country.

It's akin to some of the theories now being tried in the nation whereby the government on one hand doles out millions to residents of one sections for curtailing production of their crops, and on the other hand gives out millions to increase irrigation and make additional land for crop cultivation.

NEED FOR PUBLIC TENNIS COURTS

Mention has been made to us frequently of the the fact that some local effort should be made this summer, to have public tennis courts provided for the boys and girls of the city.

This is a matter that should get serious attention at city hall.

Several seasons, public tennis courts were maintained in parts of the city, and were much enjoyed by the youth. Last summer, the city made no effort to maintain the courts.

There are several on Boyles field that could be made suitable for play at small expense. There are others in different localities that are available, and doubtless the city has numerous properties that could be utilized for public play of this sort.

Of course, it is realized that the matter of expense has been the cause of curtailment of tennis court maintenance. Couldn't some method be worked out, whereby the courts might be made self sustaining?

At any rate, this is a proposition that should be given some attention, and is not one of such magnitude that it cannot be carried through

AUTO PROBLEM IN ENGLAND

Rapidly growing automobile fatalities have brought about a situation in England similar to that in the United States. The problem of prevention has become an urgent one.

Last year 7,202 persons were killed and 216,329 injured in the United Kingdom.

These figures have served to arouse the public as well as officials to the necessity of finding means of reducing automobile accidents. Among steps already taken is the introduction of a system of safety zones for pedestrians in London. But fatalities are by no means confined to London and other cities. Many occur in the rural districts. In an effort to deal with this condition, a bill has been introduced in parliment to require the institution of special crossings in the country and to penalize pedestrians who walk dangerously with respect to automobile traffic.

England has an enviable record in law enforcement and the prevention of crime. The automobile safety problem is hardly less important than the crime problem. The United States has failed to solve it through either law or education. England's handling of it, therefore, will be followed with interest in this country, where the situation has reached a critical stage.

TREES IN THE CITY

A small boy looks on a tree as a challenge to his anthropoid inheritance and the endurance of his trousers or as a standing invitation to build therein a tree house at the risk of his young neck. A tree surgeon estimates it in terms of caveties and arboreal diseases. A lumberman measures the giant monarch of the forest in board feet. The landscape architect considers the trees in relation to its surroundings.

But plain people who must live and work in congested communities need to do great honor to the friendly tree and regard it, care for it and preserve it for its infinite capacity for making community life bearable. There must be trees in the city, if the air is to be pure and sweet, summer nights cool and streets and gardens beautiful to gaze upon.

Let the lumberman have their way with timber lands that lie far from crowded towns, but let them spare that tree which has grown old and lovely at the city's back door. No trifling profit that can be cut out of its heart in a sawmill can compensate for the spiritual loss of its company.

Cities and towns whose streets are still arched with healthy living trees and whose homes are set in tree-studded lawns can benefit from the experience of those communities which found trees in the way and ruthlessly leveled them only to discover that trees contribute much toward making city life comfortable and pleasant. Many cities which discovered the worth of the tree too late are now planting new shade trees along their thoroughfares at great cost.

A hick town is a place where a hustler can make money faster than his women folk can find places to spend it.

Women came off with first honors in a test of automobile drivers in Salt Lake City. Probably got their training from the back seat.

If this was a poker game, doubtless the big fellows would win all the chips and then the government would issue free chips to keep the game going.

A judge at a beauty contest in Canada dropped dead while viewing the parading entries. But this will not cause any scarcity of beauty judges in Canada or on this side of the line.

The stork seems to be one old bird not affected by the depression. A survey shows that between 1929 and 1932, 39 per cent more babies were born in families of wage earners whose pay had been cut than in those of workers who received no cuts.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer.

MR. COWDEN WRITES AGAIN

Editor, The News:
Dear Sir:

Well the question of a new court house bobs up once more. This time the court has decided the county will have to pay $7,800 for about $500 worth of work. Some more good financing in the interest of the taxpayer.

The last grand jury is deserving of the thanks of the taxpayers of the county, notwithstanding the action of Rev. Joshua. The writer of this article is old-fashioned enough to believe that the business of the preacher is to preach the gospel and not work in season and out of season to bring about the building of a viaduct, new court house and devise other means to squander tne hardearned taxes of the people and plunge the county deeper into debt for something we can do without very well at the present time.

Our commissioners have demonstrated again and again that they have no regard for the wishes of the taxpayers of the county. I would not hesitate to say that four-fifths of the voters of the county and nine-tenths of the taxpayers are opposed to the building of the courthouse at this time. In view of this fact, we wonder what kind of a song any member of the present board of commissioners would sing when he went around among the farmers and working men. If any of them have nerve enough to run for another term, what he will hear will be plenty. He may hear some things that would not look nice in print and would not be at all suitable for a Sunday school address, but it will be clear cut, concise and right to the point.

Every farmer in the county is taking less for what he has to sell and paying more for what he has to buy and many of them are in danger of losing their farms. Times are harder for the farmer than they were a year ago and no relief is in sight.

"Well, you see, officer," was the calm reply, "the other chap hadn't."

Whether the one speaking has finished or not, or upon whatever subject he may be talking, you wrest attention from him.

Americans use something like the fascist salute, but the arm is horizontal and the palm up.

From a Kansas paper in which an editor speaks his mind: "I have been criticized quite a little by some of the town smart aleeks for using good grammar. Now I have three good reasons for this: In the first place, I don't know any better. Second, half of you wouldn't understand it if I did use it. Third, if I did speak and write correctly, I might be writing a column on a big New York paper at a large salary and you farmers would lose the best editor in Kansas!"

Farm wealth often moves to town, by request, when the farm estates are probated, but city wealth seldom moves to the country through inheritance. That, also, is not just.

The foreigner may lose money on American bonds, too, but nobody went over there and asked him to buy them.

AN EDITOR'S IDEAL

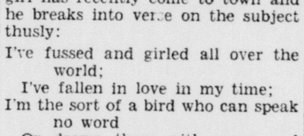

A western smalltown editor seems to have got it bad, although it isn't spring yet. He explains that a new girl has recently come to town and he breaks into verse on the subject thusly:

I've fussed and girled all over the world;
I've fallen in love in my time;
I'm the sort of a bird who can speak no word
Or drown them with prose and rime.
I fall for a while for a lip or a smile,

Then later I weary of all of 'em dearie—
But I'll never get tired of you.

And Marguerite was terribly sweet
Until she began to pall.

And I think I'll be tried and true,
But before very long I find something wrong
With all of the girls but you.

Oh, this one chatters on too many matters,
And that one hates a crowd;
And this one's slow, with a voice too low,
And that one's fast and loud.
Perhaps by the time I print this rime
I'll tell you "Good-by, I'm through,"
But I'll have to confess, as we go to press,
I'm one hundred per cent for you.

"Nationalization" New Bugaboo
Wall Street Washes Hands Of Wirt
Congress May Peer Into Propaganda

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 16.—The next session of congress may inquire into all the propaganda that has been directed at it this session by Wall Street.

The sums spent in attempts to defeat or nullify the stock exchange regulation bill and the Wagner labor bill may surpass anything spent in the "golden days" of the past to squelch legislation.

Even hardened legislators have been stunned by the amount of propaganda, so much stunned, indeed that they have feared the people were "falling" for it. And members of congress are peculiarly sensitive to what "the people fall for."

The campaign has been a clever one.

All the more recent Roosevelt measures (except the reciprocal tariff bill) have been the objects of under-water torpedoing.

* * *

NATIONALIZATION

Wall Street sees nationalization at hand. It says that a simple measure putting the direction of all the industries under codes into a single hand—a central committee (sounds communistic, doesn't it?) — would complete the job with hardly anyone realizing what had been accomplished.

Congressional authority would be needed. Wall Street won't sleep until congress adjourns.

WIRT WASHOUT

The "washout" of William A. Wirt, Gary, Ind., school superintendent, as a critic of the New Deal was O. K. to Wall Street.

The Big Men of Business look with more suspicion on the group witn which Wirt is associated than at the New Dealers.

The Committee of the Nation, composed of some highly estimable persons, is for a silver purchase bill. The Big Men see in that bill the basis of Inflation with a capital "I".

Possible further depreciation of the dollar gives Big Business the chills. "If you get prices to 1926 levels by such means, you may expect a worse crash than 1929," Big Business warns.

No, it takes a more subtle attack than the Wirt kind to stop the New Dealers, Wall Street says. Besides the ribbing given the school principal's remarks will prevent criticism being taken seriously for some time to come, Big Business thinkers are thinking.

OUT AFIELD

A scout who has just toured the United States from Maine to California, and from the Canadian to the Mexican borders, turns in this report:

"Everywhere there is criticism of the New Deal. But everywhere, too, President Roosevelt is held apart, as a savior. If an election were to be held today, his vote would be heavier than ever."

MAIDS WRITE DIRECT

Hotel maids writing directly to President Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Perkins have brought action in New York. The state labor department have placed hotels under the minimum wage law.

A maid in a fashionable residential hotel wrote to the labor department:

"Where is the labor law? We work seven days a week and over eight hours a day. Think of us, if not, we will write to the president, and see what he can do."

And write the maids did.

Maids in one hotel complained that they were permitted to take off only one day out of every 17—provided they would forego pay for that day.

MRS. ROOSEVELT

Women workers have begun to look on Mrs. Roosevelt, the president's wife, as their greatest champion.

The fullness of Mrs. Roosevelt's endeavors may not become known for years to come.

She is at almost the top rung of the New Dealers.

MORE AVIATION TROUBLE

Not all the troubles of the United Aircraft & Transport corporation come from airmale contract cancellations.

The company is being criticized by stockholders for failing to make a complete accounting of transactions between subsidiary companies.

As the New York Sun financial column remarks:

"For 1933 it admits that the so-called 'consolidated' profit and loss statement includes an undisclosed amount of profits received by the Boeing Airplane company, a 100 per cent owned subsidiary, from the sale of equipment to United Air Lines, Inc., also 100 per cent owned. These profits constituted a 'substantial portion' of the operating income. In the light of the unfortunate experience with Gillette (safety razor) a few years ago, this incident would stand a little more complete report to stockholders."

Stockholders also have not forgotten disclosures how organizers of some of the air companies 'cleaned up" millions (through stock sales) with only a few hundred dollars' investment.

History's Great Days—April 16, 1651—The Province of East New Jersey was offered for sale in England for the equivalent of $25,000!

Early next year it was put up at public auction by eight trustees to whom it had been left by Sir George Carteret to be administered for the benefit of his creditors, and was purchased by William Penn and 11 associates for approximately $17,000. Each of these 12 sold half his share to another associate, so the province had 24 proprietors.

Penn and other Quakers already controlled West Jersey. They made one colony of East and West Jersey, but had two capitals—Burlington and Perth Amboy—where the legislature met alternately—until 1790, when Trenton became the seat of government.

April 16, 1786—The first American play performed successfully on an American stage had its premiere at the John Street Theatre, New York. It was The Contrast, a five act comedy by Royall Tyler, 29, prodigy who received degrees from both Yale and Harvard when he was 19. (At 37 he was a justice of the Supreme Court of Vermont.)

Star of The Contrast was Thomas Wignell, comedian who made the role of Jonathan the prototype of the Yankee character who became first Uncle Jonathan and, by anology, Uncle Sam.

In the play there is represented a countryman, who having dropped into a theater in expectation of seeing a "hocus-pocus man," sits out a performance of the School of Scandal with no idea that he actually has seen the play.

"I vow," says Jonathan, "as I was looking out for him, they lifted up the great green cloth (the curtain), and let us look right into a neighbor's house." At the close he demands back his money, as he had seen nothing "unless you call listening to people's private business a sight."

April 16, 1818—London was given the first exhibition of the kaleidoscope, which soon became the favorite indoor sport of Old and New Worlds. It was the invention of Dr. David Brewster, 37, Scotch physicist who also perfected the stereoscope.

As late as 1817, one Abraham Thornton challenged under this law the brother of the woman he was accused of murdering. The brother refused to fight, and Thornton was discharged.

UNSOUND IMMIGRATION THEORY

ONE of the largest New York newspapers is advocating a theory that the way to take care of surplus production of foodstuffs, and staples in the United States, is to let down the immigration bars and allow ten to twenty-five million more people come into the United States.

The theory is that with this gigantic addition to the consuming power of the United States, there would be American markets for the present surplus.

On the side of the increased consumption the theory may sound good.

But, from a common sense point of view, it is absurd.

With millions unemployed in the United States at the present time, the addition of millions of immigrants would but add to that list, it is certain. How would this army of immigrants become purchasers of American surplus crops?

There is no question but that increased population would mean increased demand for goods and for foodstuffs. But, jobless, how would this addition to the population be enabled to pay for their needs?

No, immense increasing of immigration to the United States will not solve any present day problem of this country.

It's akin to some of the theories now being tried in the nation whereby the government on one hand doles out millions to residents of one sections for curtailing production of their crops, and on the other hand gives out millions to increase irrigation and make additional land for crop cultivation.

NEED FOR PUBLIC TENNIS COURTS

Mention has been made to us frequently of the the fact that some local effort should be made this summer, to have public tennis courts provided for the boys and girls of the city.

This is a matter that should get serious attention at city hall.

Several seasons, public tennis courts were maintained in parts of the city, and were much enjoyed by the youth. Last summer, the city made no effort to maintain the courts.

There are several on Boyles field that could be made suitable for play at small expense. There are others in different localities that are available, and doubtless the city has numerous properties that could be utilized for public play of this sort.

Of course, it is realized that the matter of expense has been the cause of curtailment of tennis court maintenance. Couldn't some method be worked out, whereby the courts might be made self sustaining?

At any rate, this is a proposition that should be given some attention, and is not one of such magnitude that it cannot be carried through

AUTO PROBLEM IN ENGLAND

Rapidly growing automobile fatalities have brought about a situation in England similar to that in the United States. The problem of prevention has become an urgent one.

Last year 7,202 persons were killed and 216,329 injured in the United Kingdom.

These figures have served to arouse the public as well as officials to the necessity of finding means of reducing automobile accidents. Among steps already taken is the introduction of a system of safety zones for pedestrians in London. But fatalities are by no means confined to London and other cities. Many occur in the rural districts. In an effort to deal with this condition, a bill has been introduced in parliment to require the institution of special crossings in the country and to penalize pedestrians who walk dangerously with respect to automobile traffic.

England has an enviable record in law enforcement and the prevention of crime. The automobile safety problem is hardly less important than the crime problem. The United States has failed to solve it through either law or education. England's handling of it, therefore, will be followed with interest in this country, where the situation has reached a critical stage.

TREES IN THE CITY

A small boy looks on a tree as a challenge to his anthropoid inheritance and the endurance of his trousers or as a standing invitation to build therein a tree house at the risk of his young neck. A tree surgeon estimates it in terms of cavities and arboreal diseases. A lumberman measures the giant monarch of the forest in board feet. The landscape architect considers the trees in relation to its surroundings.

But plain people who must live and work in congested communities need to do great honor to the friendly tree and regard it, care for it and preserve it for its infinite capacity for making community life bearable. There must be trees in the city, if the air is to be pure and sweet, summer nights cool and streets and gardens beautiful to gaze upon.

Let the lumberman have their way with timber lands that lie far from crowded towns, but let them spare that tree which has grown old and lovely at the city's back door. No trifling profit that can be cut out of its heart in a sawmill can compensate for the spiritual loss of its company.

Cities and towns whose streets are still arched with healthy living trees and whose homes are set in tree-studded lawns can benefit from the experience of those communities which found trees in the way and ruthlessly leveled them only to discover that trees contribute much toward making city life comfortable and pleasant. Many cities which discovered the worth of the tree too late are now planting new shade trees along their thoroughfares at great cost.

A hick town is a place where a hustler can make money faster than his women folk can find places to spend it.

Women came off with first honors in a test of automobile drivers in Salt Lake City. Probably got their training from the back seat.

If this was a poker game, doubtless the big fellows would win all the chips and then the government would issue free chips to keep the game going.

A judge at a beauty contest in Canada dropped dead while viewing the parading entries. But this will not cause any scarcity of beauty judges in Canada or on this side of the line.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer.

MR. COWDEN WRITES AGAIN

Editor, The News:
Dear Sir:

Well the question of a new court house bobs up once more. This time the court has decided the county will have to pay $7,800 for about $500 worth of work. Some more good financing in the interest of the taxpayer.

The last grand jury is deserving of the thanks of the taxpayers of the county, notwithstanding the action of Rev. Joshua. The writer of this article is old-fashioned enough to believe that the business of the preacher is to preach the gospel and not work in season and out of season to bring about the building of a viaduct, new court house and devise other means to squander the hardearned taxes of the people and plunge the county deeper into debt for something we can do without very well at the present time.

Our commissioners have demonstrated again and again that they have no regard for the wishes of the taxpayers of the county. I would not hesitate to say that four-fifths of the voters of the county and nine-tenths of the taxpayers are opposed to the building of the courthouse at this time. In view of this fact, we wonder what kind of a song any member of the present board of commissioners would sing when he went around among the farmers and working men. If any of them have nerve enough to run for another term, what he will hear will be plenty. He may hear some things that would not look nice in print and would not be at all suitable for a Sunday school address, but it will be clear cut, concise and right to the point.

Every farmer in the county is taking less for what he has to sell and paying more for what he has to buy and many of them are in danger of losing their farms. Times are harder for the farmer than they were a year ago and no relief is in sight.

"Well, you see, officer," was the calm reply, "the other chap hadn't."

"Nationalization" New Bugaboo
Wall Street Washes Hands Of Wirt
Congress May Peer Into Propaganda

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 16.—The next session of congress may inquire into all the propaganda that has been directed at it this session by Wall Street.

The sums spent in attempts to defeat or nullify the stock exchange regulation bill and the Wagner labor bill may surpass anything spent in the "golden days" of the past to squelch legislation.

Even hardened legislators have been stunned by the amount of propaganda, so much stunned, indeed that they have feared the people were "falling" for it. And members of congress are peculiarly sensitive to what "the people fall for."

The campaign has been a clever one.

All the more recent Roosevelt measures (except the reciprocal tariff bill) have been the objects of under-water torpedoing.

* * *

NATIONALIZATION

Wall Street sees nationalization at hand. It says that a simple measure putting the direction of all the industries under codes into a single hand—a central committee (sounds communistic, doesn't it?) — would complete the job with hardly anyone realizing what had been accomplished.

Congressional authority would be needed. Wall Street won't sleep until congress adjourns.

WIRT WASHOUT

The "washout" of William A. Wirt, Gary, Ind., school superintendent, as a critic of the New Deal was O. K. to Wall Street.

The Big Men of Business look with more suspicion on the group with which Wirt is associated than at the New Dealers.

The Committee of the Nation, composed of some highly estimable persons, is for a silver purchase bill. The Big Men see in that bill the basis of Inflation with a capital "I".

Possible further depreciation of the dollar gives Big Business the chills. "If you get prices to 1926 levels by such means, you may expect a worse crash than 1929." Big Business warns.

No, it takes a more subtle attack than the Wirt kind to stop the New Dealers, Wall Street says. Besides the ribbing given the school principal's remarks will prevent criticism being taken seriously for some time to come. Big Business thinkers are thinking.

A scout who has just toured the United States from Maine to California, and from the Canadian to the Mexican borders, turns in this report:

MAIDS WRITE DIRECT

Hotel maids writing directly to President Roosevelt and Secretary of Labor Perkins have brought action in New York. The state labor department have placed hotels under the minimum wage law.

A maid in a fashionable residential hotel wrote to the labor department:

"Where is the labor law? We work seven days a week and over eight hours a day. Think of us, if not, we will write to the president, and see what he can do."

And write the maids did.

Maids in one hotel complained that they were permitted to take off only one day out of every 17—provided they would forego pay for that day.

MRS. ROOSEVELT

Women workers have begun to look on Mrs. Roosevelt, the president's wife, as their greatest champion.

The fullness of Mrs. Roosevelt's endeavors may not become known for years to come.

She is at almost the top rung of the New Dealers.

MORE AVIATION TROUBLE

Not all the troubles of the United Aircraft & Transport corporation come from airmale contract cancellations.

The company is being criticized by stockholders for failing to make a complete accounting of transactions between subsidiary companies.

As the New York Sun financial column remarks:

"For 1933 it admits that the so-called 'consolidated' profit and loss statement includes an undisclosed amount of profits received by the Boeing Airplane company, a 100 per cent owned subsidiary, from the sale of equipment to United Air Lines, Inc., also 100 per cent owned. These profits constituted a 'substantial portion' of the operating income. In the light of the unfortunate experience with Gillette (safety razor) a few years ago, this incident would stand a little more complete report to stockholders."

Stockholders also have not forgotten disclosures how organizers of some of the air companies 'cleaned up" millions (through stock sales) with only a few hundred dollars' investment.

History's Great Days—April 16, 1651—The Province of East New Jersey was offered for sale in England for the equivalent of $25,000!

Early next year it was put up at public auction by eight trustees to whom it had been left by Sir George Carteret to be administered for the benefit of his creditors, and was purchased by William Penn and 11 associates for approximately $17,000. Each of these 12 sold half his share to another associate, so the province had 24 proprietors.

Penn and other Quakers already controlled West Jersey. They made one colony of East and West Jersey, but had two capitals—Burlington and Perth Amboy—where the legislature met alternately—until 1790, when Trenton became the seat of government.

April 16, 1786—The first American play performed successfully on an American stage had its premiere at the John Street Theatre, New York. It was The Contrast, a five act comedy by Royall Tyler, 29, prodigy who received degrees from both Yale and Harvard when he was 19. (At 37 he was a justice of the Supreme Court of Vermont.)

Star of The Contrast was Thomas Wignell, comedian who made the role of Jonathan the prototype of the Yankee character who became first Uncle Jonathan and, by anology, Uncle Sam.

In the play there is represented a countryman, who having dropped into a theater in expectation of seeing a "hocus-pocus man," sits out a performance of the School of Scandal with no idea that he actually has seen the play.

"I vow," says Jonathan, "as I was looking out for him, they lifted up the great green clouh (the curtain), and let us look right into a neighbor's house." At the close he demands back his money, as he had seen nothing "unless you call listening to people's private business a sight."

German Women Must Relinquish Jobs To Men, Is Latest Orders

Estimate 400,000 Women In Germany Have Been Forced To Give Up Jobs To Men

More Than 500,000 Women Are Still Employed, Figures Reveal; Marriage Loans Doubled

By TOM WILHELM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Apr. 16.—In the efforts of the German government to reduce unemployment, the German woman is playing a major role, some 400,000 of her sisters having been removed from employment to make way for men.

Coupled with efforts to increase the purchasing power of the employes in general are the laws and regulations affecting women. More than 500,000 women are still employed in this country.

Not only has the government been active in this direction, but party leaders in various parts of Germany have also taken a hand.

Principal among these are the concessions made to householders to get them to employe servant girls, the loans made to couples desiring to marry, and the forced ousting of those women whose husbands or fathers are able to support them.

100,000 Given Jobs

Through the measure relating to servant girls, some 100,000 maids have been returned to housework during the last year.

The marriage loans, originally calculated to run about $20,000 a month jumped to double that figure, and during the last month of the budget year the idea was held up pending the arrival of the first month in the new budget year, when additional funds would be made available.

Through the measures, government spokesmen calculated they have been able to put 500,000 additional persons back to work citing 100,000 in housework, 200,000 women taken out of employment and put into their own homes by the government loans, and another 200,000 persons who found employment through the fillip given house furnishing and kindred trades through the wedding loans.

With Lavish Hand

The government is spending appropriations with a lavish hand for road construction and loans to persons wishing to repair or remodel houses. Municipalities and drainage districts are admitted to the public trough, as are land reclamation schemes and reforestation projects.

In face of these reductions in revenues and increases in expenditures the government will receive more than 300,000,000 marks annually for the next five years in its own scrip.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 48 hours ending 3:30 p. m., April 15: 37 arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking laws and traffic regulations 23, suspicion 4, keeper of disorderly house 1, visitor to disorderly house 3, disorderly conduct 4 and drunkenness 2.

For the first time in months no persons were arrested Saturday night on a charge of intoxication, the chart showing that only two arrested on that charge during the past 48 hours were taken into custody Friday.

Charles Hudson and Jennie Walker, colored, visited a beer garden Saturday night and before they left with a police escort they had been placed under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. The barkeeper alleged that Hudson "pulled a knife". The mayor gave both their freedom in city police court Sunday morning.

William Grimes, who is alleged to have taken the auto of Tony Girolamos without the latter's consent, while Tony was visiting at his home, was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Mayne. Frank Koster, 125 West Center avenue, had a couple of male visitors and the four of them imbibed so freely their voices became too loud and police sent them to jail for the night.

Persons who have looked forward to the draining of Cascade Park lake and a basket of fish will have to forego the pleasure until next fall, it having been decided not to drain the lake this spring. The park board will soon meet and decide upon the personnel of the employes. It is also likely action toward renting Rainbow Terrace will be taken.

No autoist will be permitted to drive through the Midway this summer, according to Cascade Park Manager Chris Coulthard. Another route than that used last summer diverts the cars through the lower park past the Billy Glenn pool to the railroad side of the recreation center.

"I SELL THEM GASOLINE BUT THEY SOLD ME Plymouth!"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH VERNON F. KRAUSE OF CHICAGO, ILL.

1. "I wanted a new low-priced car, but I wasn't taking any chances. I wanted to be sure I got the best. So I decided to let my gasoline customers give me their opinions on 'All Three.'"

"Talking with Drivers of 'All Three' Convinced me that Plymouth gives the Most for your Money"

WHEN VERNON KRAUSE decided to buy a new car, he didn't have to take any time off to "look at All Three." He stayed right where he was . . . in his service station . . . and the cars came to him.

"I just stayed right here," Krause says, "keeping my eyes open and listening to owners compare notes."

Plymouth won their vote in the low-price field . . . hands down. But the surprising thing to Mr. Krause was this. There wasn't just one reason for Plymouth's popularity. There were all kinds of reasons.

Some of his customers said how pleased they were with Hydraulic Brakes. Others boasted of having Safety-Steel Bodies. Many of them mentioned the great amount of extra comfort they got from Floating Power engine mountings and Individual Wheel Springing.

"It all added up to the fact that Plymouth gave the most for the money," says Krause . . . "and that settled the question for me."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts announces that he has received a new supply of copies of the fishing laws. When the fishing tags were sent out only one thousand copies of the laws came along, and these have all been distributed. About 1700 fishing licenses have been issued so far this year. Those who get the licenses early generally want to fish for white suckers and black suckers, about the only kind of fish that can be caught early in the year. Black suckers are found in nearly all of the local streams, and particularly in the Slippery Rock creek.

A. E. and Frances Rhodes have issued a writ of attachment at the prothonotary's office against William W. Wallace in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money or dividends due the defendant from Goldie Reardon and others. The amount of the debt is $340.

No further action has been taken by the county commissioners toward signing a contract for the money to be obtained from the Public Works Administration. The reason for this is that ten days is allowed during which a re-hearing may be asked in a case decided by the supreme court. The supreme court recently handed down a decision upholding the lower court in the catter of the payment of $7,800 due. The Thayer Company for drawing the preliminary plans for a new court house. The ten days has about elapsed and it is understood that no re-hearing has been asked.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has received from Earl T. Denton, of the state police barracks at Butler, photographs and finger prints of all the prisoners in the Lawrence county jail, taken shortly before the March term of criminal court. Denton and his assistants were here for several days photographing and fingerprinting the prisoners. The records which are sent the sheriff are on cardboards about eight inches square. In the center of one side of the cardboard is a piece for pasting the photographs which accompany the cardboards. The photos show a front and side view of each prisoner. Surrounding the picture is a complete description of the prisoner including age, height, weight, color of hair and eyes and other data. On the back of the cardboard is shown fingerprints. Photographs of prisoners are taken every month and are filed away in the sheriff's office for future reference.

Tree surgeons who have been amputating arms of the big trees on the court house lawn discovered that one of the trees, located on the south side of the lawn, next to the Boyles property, was bad at the heart, and it was cut down. The tree was over a foot thick and it was feared that it might blow down and damage either persons or property. The tree, as well as the limbs was sawed up and is being used for wood in the court house furnaces.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts is getting ready to collect 1934 taxes. Saturday he ordered postals printed and as soon as the clerks in the county commissioners office turn over the duplicates, the cards will be out and mailed. It will probably be about two weeks yet before this can be done. The system of sending out tax cards, which has been in force for the past two years, has been found to be so satisfactory that it will be followed this year. No 1934 taxes are now being taken except in cases where there are transfers of property, and it is necessary to have the taxes paid up. The amount of the tax is then secured from the assesment books in the county commissioners office.

County Commissioners have just completed repairs on the Harbor bridge. The floor of the bridge was in bad shape and it has been replanked where necessary. The wooden stringer which ran through the bridge on top of the plank has been removed making a much smoother drive. There are several other bridges throughout the county on which repairs are now being made.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts announces that he has received a new supply of copies of the fishing laws. When the fishing tags were sent out only one thousand copies of the laws came along, and these have all been distributed. About 1700 fishing licenses have been issued so far this year. Those who get the licenses early generally want to fish for white suckers and black suckers, about the only kind of fish that can be caught early in the year. Black suckers are found in nearly all of the local streams, and particularly in the Slippery Rock creek.

A. E. and Frances Rhodes have issued a writ of attachment at the prothonotary's office against William W. Wallace in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money or dividends due the defendant from Goldie Reardon and others. The amount of the debt is $340.

No further action has been taken by the county commissioners toward signing a contract for the money to be obtained from the Public Works Administration. The reason for this is that ten days is allowed during which a re-hearing may be asked in a case decided by the supreme court. The supreme court recently handed down a decision upholding the lower court in the catter of the payment of $7,800 due. The Thayer Company for drawing the preliminary plans for a new court house. The ten days has about elapsed and it is understood that no re-hearing has been asked.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has received from Earl T. Denton, of the state police barracks at Butler, photographs and finger prints of all the prisoners in the Lawrence county jail, taken shortly before the March term of criminal court. Denton and his assistants were here for several days photographing and fingerprinting the prisoners. The records which are sent the sheriff are on cardboards about eight inches square. In the center of one side of the cardboard is a piece for pasting the photographs which accompany the cardboards. The photos show a front and side view of each prisoner. Surrounding the picture is a complete description of the prisoner including age, height, weight, color of hair and eyes and other data. On the back of the cardboard is shown fingerprints. Photographs of prisoners are taken every month and are filed away in the sheriff's office for future reference.

Tree surgeons who have been amputating arms of the big trees on the court house lawn discovered that one of the trees, located on the south side of the lawn, next to the Boyles property, was bad at the heart, and it was cut down. The tree was over a foot thick and it was feared that it might blow down and damage either persons or property. The tree, as well as the limbs was sawed up and is being used for wood in the court house furnaces.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts is getting ready to collect 1934 taxes. Saturday he ordered postals printed and as soon as the clerks in the county commissioners office turn over the duplicates, the cards will be out and mailed. It will probably be about two weeks yet before this can be done. The system of sending out tax cards, which has been in force for the past two years, has been found to be so satisfactory that it will be followed this year. No 1934 taxes are now being taken except in cases where there are transfers of property, and it is necessary to have the taxes paid up. The amount of the tax is then secured from the assesment books in the county commissioners office.

County Commissioners have just completed repairs on the Harbor bridge. The floor of the bridge was in bad shape and it has been replanked where necessary. The wooden stringer which ran through the bridge on top of the plank has been removed making a much smoother drive. There are several other bridges throughout the county on which repairs are now being made.

HOW GRANDMA "HOLDS HER MAN"

German Women Must Relinquish Jobs To Men, Is Latest Orders

Estimate 400,000 Women In Germany Have Been Forced To Give Up Jobs To Men

More Than 500,000 Women Are Still Employed, Figures Reveal; Marriage Loans Doubled

By TOM WILHELM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Apr. 16.—In the efforts of the German government to reduce unemployment, the German woman is playing a major role, some 400,000 of her sisters having been removed from employment to make way for men.

Coupled with efforts to increase the purchasing power of the employes in general are the laws and regulations affecting women. More than 500,000 women are still employed in this country.

Not only has the government been active in this direction, but party leaders in various parts of Germany have also taken a hand.

Principal among these are the concessions made to householders to get them to employe servant girls, the loans made to couples desiring to marry, and the forced ousting of those women whose husbands or fathers are able to support them.

100,000 Given Jobs

Through the measure relating to servant girls, some 100,000 maids have been returned to housework during the last year.

The marriage loans, originally calculated to run about $20,000 a month jumped to double that figure, and during the last month of the budget year the idea was held up pending the arrival of the first month in the new budget year, when additional funds would be made available.

Through the measures, government spokesmen calculated they have been able to put 500,000 additional persons back to work citing 100,000 in housework, 200,000 women taken out of employment and put into their own homes by the government loans, and another 200,000 persons who found employment through the fillip given house furnishing and kindred trades through the wedding loans.

With Lavish Hand

The government is spending appropriations with a lavish hand for road construction and loans to persons wishing to repair or remodel houses. Municipalities and drainage districts are admitted to the public trough, as are land reclamation schemes and reforestation projects.

In face of these reductions in revenues and increases in expenditures the government will receive more than 300,000,000 marks annually for the next five years in its own scrip.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 48 hours ending 3:30 p. m., April 15: 37 arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking laws and traffic regulations 23, suspicion 4, keeper of disorderly house 1, visitor to disorderly house 3, disorderly conduct 4 and drunkenness 2.

For the first time in months no persons were arrested Saturday night on a charge of intoxication, the chart showing that only two arrested on that charge during the past 48 hours were taken into custody Friday.

Charles Hudson and Jennie Walker, colored, visited a beer garden Saturday night and before they left with a police escort they had been placed under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. The barkeeper alleged that Hudson "pulled a knife". The mayor gave both their freedom in city police court Sunday morning.

William Grimes, who is alleged to have taken the auto of Tony Girolamos without the latter's consent, while Tony was visiting at his home, was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Mayne. Frank Koster, 125 West Center avenue, had a couple of male visitors and the four of them imbibed so freely their voices became too loud and police sent them to jail for the night.

Persons who have looked forward to the draining of Cascade Park lake and a basket of fish will have to forego the pleasure until next fall, it having been decided not to drain the lake this spring. The park board will soon meet and decide upon the personnel of the employes. It is also likely action toward renting Rainbow Terrace will be taken.

No autoist will be permitted to drive through the Midway this summer, according to Cascade Park Manager Chris Coulthard. Another route than that used last summer diverts the cars through the lower park past the Billy Glenn pool to the railroad side of the recreation center.

"I SELL THEM GASOLINE BUT THEY SOLD ME Plymouth!"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH VERNON F. KRAUSE OF CHICAGO, ILL.

1. "I wanted a new low-priced car, but I wasn't taking any chances. I wanted to be sure I got the best. So I decided to let my gasoline customers give me their opinions on 'All Three.'"

"Talking with Drivers of 'All Three' Convinced me that Plymouth gives the Most for your Money"

WHEN VERNON KRAUSE decided to buy a new car, he didn't have to take any time off to "look at All Three." He stayed right where he was . . . in his service station . . . and the cars came to him.

"I just stayed right here," Krause says, "keeping my eyes open and listening to owners compare notes."

Plymouth won their vote in the low-price field . . . hands down. But the surprising thing to Mr. Krause was this. There wasn't just one reason for Plymouth's popularity. There were all kinds of reasons.

Some of his customers said how pleased they were with Hydraulic Brakes. Others boasted of having Safety-Steel Bodies. Many of them mentioned the great amount of extra comfort they got from Floating Power engine mountings and Individual Wheel Springing.

"It all added up to the fact that Plymouth gave the most for the money," says Krause . . . "and that settled the question for me."

"The most for your money." Isn't that exactly what you want in a new car? You want safety and comfort . . . as well as good looks and economy.

• • •

THEN, PLYMOUTH is the car for you. It's the only low-priced car with all four of the vital features you need.

Any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer will gladly give you a Plymouth demonstration.

2. "I found Plymouth owners got real economical mileage and smoother engine performance out of the gasoline I sold them. They agreed Plymouth was easy on your pocketbook."

3. "I liked Plymouth's looks. But my customers showed me there was a lot more to Plymouth than roominess and style. They pointed out its other features—like Individual Wheel Springing, Floating Power and Hydraulic Brakes. That surely sold me."

Leon Trotzky Is Found Hiding In Villa Near Paris

French Officials Place Close Guard On Former Russian Leader, After Discovery

IS TAKEN TO NEW HIDEOUT

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 16.—The French police, after routing Leon Trotzky out of a Villa near Paris to which he had retired secretly more than three months ago to plot new revolutions, today concentrated their efforts upon hiding him again.

Upon learning from the noted Russion bolshevist exile that he had gone into hiding to protect himself from White Russians who were threatening his life, the police, as surprised at their own discovery as was all of France, immediately took steps to guard the revolutionist and get him out of sight again.

Found At Desk

Trotsky, with two large pistols lying before him, was found sitting at his desk in a locked study of a "mystery" Villa in the village of Barbizon, famous as an artists' community, on the edge of Montainebleau forest and less than 40 miles from Paris.

The fact that Trotzky was found living in France Proper without the knowledge of police and the French public evoked wide public criticism. The police, first thinking, upon their discovery, that Trotzky had no right there, were chagrined when he produced his passport, properly marked by the minister of the interior to grant permission for him to live in the department of Seine-Et-Marne.

The authorities were expected to point out to Trotzky the dangers of living so close to Paris now that his hideout was known, were expected to "invite" the Bolshevist leader to go to Corsica, according to his original plans, or to take another abode, secretly, in some other part of France.

New Hideout

In any case, he was to be guarded very closely.

Attempts to communicate with Trotzky were of no avail, and it was reported that he was whisked away from the Villa by police heading for a secret destination. It was possible Trotzky was being taken to a new hideout, the location to be known only to police and Trotzky's aides.

These aides include a "staff" of five persons, including Mme. Trotzky, found living in the cottage.

Guardsmen Are On Job In Oklahoma

Seek To Prevent Scheduled Sales Of Foreclosed School Lands For Taxes

(International News Service)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 16.—Eleven Oklahoma county seats were under virtual martial law today as National Guardsmen took their posts in court houses to prevent scheduled sales of foreclosed school lands for taxes.

Although the sales were called off in all but two counties the guardsment remained on duty in accordance with instructions from Gov W. H. Murray to prevent the sales even if it became necessary to arrest the county treasurers.

Only in Bryan and Walters counties were the sales still scheduled and it was believed improbable the treasurers would attempt to conduct disposal of property in the face of the governor's edict.

Wisconsin Congressman Aroused Over Report To Police About Accident

TWO NEW YORK MEN INJURED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Puzzled by the action of police in reporting "the driver of a congressional car from Wisconsin was unknown" after the car collided with a taxicab and injured two New York brokers early yesterday, Representative Raymond J. Cannon (D) of Milwaukee was determined today to learn why the accident was not reported properly.

Edward Henry Harriman Simmons, former president of the New York Stock Exchange, suffered a dislocated shoulder and Herbert Wellington was badly shaken up. Both spent the night at Emergency hospital. Cannon said the taxicab made a "U" turn directly in front of his machine and the fender of his car was dented by the impact. Leon Trotzky Is Found Hiding In Villa Near Paris

IS TAKEN TO NEW HIDEOUT

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 16.—The French police, after routing Leon Trotzky out of a Villa near Paris to which he had retired secretly more than three months ago to plot new revolutions, today concentrated their efforts upon hiding him again.

Upon learning from the noted Russion bolshevist exile that he had gone into hiding to protect himself from White Russians who were threatening his life, the police, as surprised at their own discovery as was all of France, immediately took steps to guard the revolutionist and get him out of sight again.

Found At Desk

Trotsky, with two large pistols lying before him, was found sitting at his desk in a locked study of a "mystery" Villa in the village of Barbizon, famous as an artists' community, on the edge of Montainebleau forest and less than 40 miles from Paris.

The fact that Trotzky was found living in France Proper without the knowledge of police and the French public evoked wide public criticism. The police, first thinking, upon their discovery, that Trotzky had no right there, were chagrined when he produced his passport, properly marked by the minister of the interior to grant permission for him to live in the department of Seine-Et-Marne.

The authorities were expected to point out to Trotzky the dangers of living so close to Paris now that his hideout was known, were expected to "invite" the Bolshevist leader to go to Corsica, according to his original plans, or to take another abode, secretly, in some other part of France.

New Hideout

In any case, he was to be guarded very closely.

Attempts to communicate with Trotzky were of no avail, and it was reported that he was whisked away from the Villa by police heading for a secret destination. It was possible Trotzky was being taken to a new hideout, the location to be known only to police and Trotzky's aides.

These aides include a "staff" of five persons, including Mme. Trotzky, found living in the cottage.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 16.—Eleven Oklahoma county seats were under virtual martial law today as National Guardsmen took their posts in court houses to prevent scheduled sales of foreclosed school lands for taxes.

Although the sales were called off in all but two counties the guardsment remained on duty in accordance with instructions from Gov W. H. Murray to prevent the sales even if it became necessary to arrest the county treasurers.

Only in Bryan and Walters counties were the sales still scheduled and it was believed improbable the treasurers would attempt to conduct disposal of property in the face of the governor's edict.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 16.—Eleven Oklahoma county seats were under virtual martial law today as National Guardsmen took their posts in court houses to prevent scheduled sales of foreclosed school lands for taxes.

Although the sales were called off in all but two counties the guardsment remained on duty in accordance with instructions from Gov W. H. Murray to prevent the sales even if it became necessary to arrest the county treasurers.

Only in Bryan and Walters counties were the sales still scheduled and it was believed improbable the treasurers would attempt to conduct disposal of property in the face of the governor's edict.

Co-ed And Escort Severely Beaten By Two Negroes

Colorado Springs, Colo., Up In Arms Over Vicious Attack On Young Couple

GIRL IS STRIPPED OF HER CLOTHING

(International News Service)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 16.—Talk of lynch law was rife in Colorado Springs today as police sought two negroes who beat Georgia Charles Lindley, 22, beautiful and popular daughter of a wealthy Longview, Texas, oil family, into insensibility and slugged her escort, James L. O'Brien.

Miss Lindley was in a local hospital, her body a mass of bruises. Attaches said she had been struck 15 or 20 times in the eyes with the sharp heel of her slipper. She was not criminally attacked, physicians said. O'Brien was released from the hospital after physicians took 11 stitches in his head.

Violence Threatened

When word of the vicious attack on the young couple reached the campus of Colorado College, which both attend, students paraded through downtown streets, firing revolvers and threatening violence. One suspect, George Williams, was arrested.

The two returned from a dance early Sunday morning and O'Brien stopped his car in front of Miss Lindley's residence. The two negroes stepped from the shadows. One of them struck O'Brien over the head with a revolver, knocking him unconscious. Then they beat the girl and threw her and O'Brien into the car.

One of the negroes drove the car to an isolated spot east of the city, where they again beat the girl and stripped her of her clothes.

For some reason the attackers became suddenly frightened and fled.

BOY SCOUT Activities

LEADERS DISCUSS WORK

At a recent meeting of the Headquarters troop, outfit of leaders of local Boy Scout troops, various undertakings of interest to local scouting were considered. The meeting, held in the Ben Franklin high school, followed a basketball game in which the men participated.

When the smoke of battle had cleared away, the troop got into action as a troop, and took up a number of important matters. The first aid meet, scheduled for April 27 at the Senior high school gymnasium, will use the rules it had in 1933, and Commissioner R. F. Davis, who did such a good job last year, was named to select a judges' corps for the occasion. Rules for this event will be sent out this week as some of the men do not have their former copies.

The list of merit badge counselors was also read, the men putting these names in their handbooks for future reference. It is hoped that as scout leaders can, additional names will be secured to add to this list; as a hundred more men could be used in this capacity. Rev. A. M. Stump, chairman of the court of honor, was present last night, and stated that his committee would welcome suggestions from the leaders on the work of the court.

Camp matters were taken up and an estimate of the scouts who might attend mass camp was asked for. The camping committee is very anxious to get this information to help line up periods, rates, etc. The tree-planting project was mentioned; the trees ordered from the State nursery being expected to arrive in time for planting next Saturday. Several troops have volunteered to help. The May meeting of the leaders will be held at Camp Phillips; probably on the 19th; and will be an afternoon and evening affair.

DISTRICT PLANS MADE

A worthwhile meeting of the district commissioners of Lawrence county was held last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms with commissioner Ralph F. Davis presiding, and a good attendance present. The work of each district was taken up, and the men made brief reports on their troops the others then commenting on methods or helps which might be given the troops needing such help.

The troop achievement program was then taken up and the new men given a line on what it meant to the troops. Camping matters, the first aid meet, rallies, and the summer program generally were then discussed. On account of the Leader's club meeting at Camp Philips on the nineteenth of next month, it was voted to join this group for the May meeting, so that a good sized turnout is anticipated for that time. Three men registered for 1934 as follow: Walter DeArment, J. Harvey Gwin and Richard Steen. Ralph Main represented Ellwood district and gave an interesting report of the work there.

The trophy skin used by the commissioners for awards in their work will be put into use again and each district as it has the highest standing, will use this for three months. Details of this will be given in the near future.

Co-ed And Escort Severely Beaten By Two Negroes

Colorado Springs, Colo., Up In Arms Over Vicious Attack On Young Couple

GIRL IS STRIPPED OF HER CLOTHING

(International News Service)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 16.—Talk of lynch law was rife in Coloado Springs today as police sought two negroes who beat Georgia Charles Lindley, 22, beautiful and popular daughter of a wealthy Longview, Texas, oil family, into insensibility and slugged her escort, James L. O'Brien.

Miss Lindley was in a local hospital, her body a mass of bruises. Attaches said she had been struck 15 or 20 times in the eyes with the sharp heel of her slipper. She was not criminally attacked, physicians said. O'Brien was released from the hospital after physicians took 11 stitches in his head.

Violence Threatened

When word of the vicious attack on the young couple reached the campus of Colorado College, which both attend, students paraded through downtown streets, firing revolvers and threatening violence. One suspect, George Williams, was arrested.

The two returned from a dance early Sunday morning and O'Brien stopped his car in front of Miss Lindley's residence. The two negroes stepped from the shadows. One of them struck O'Brien over the head with a revolver, knocking him unconscious. Then they beat the girl and threw her and O'Brien into the car.

One of the negroes drove the car to an isolated spot east of the city, where they again beat the girl and stripped her of her clothes.

For some reason the attackers became suddenly frightened and fled.

LEADERS DISCUSS WORK

At a recent meeting of the Headquarters troop, outfit of leaders of local Boy Scout troops, various undertakings of interest to local scouting were considered. The meeting, held in the Ben Franklin high school, followed a basketball game in which the men participated.

When the smoke of battle had cleared away, the troop got into action as a troop, and took up a number of important matters. The first aid meet, scheduled for April 27 at the Senior high school gymnasium, will use the rules it had in 1933, and Commissioner R. F. Davis, who did such a good job last year, was named to select a judges' corps for the occasion. Rules for this event will be sent out this week as some of the men do not have their former copies.

The list of merit badge counselors was also read, the men putting these names in their handbooks for future reference. It is hoped that as scout leaders can, additional names will be secured to add to this list; as a hundred more men could be used in this capacity. Rev. A. M. Stump, chairman of the court of honor, was present last night, and stated that his committee would welcome suggestions from the leaders on the work of the court.

Camp matters were taken up and an estimate of the scouts who might attend mass camp was asked for. The camping committee is very anxious to get this information to help line up periods, rates, etc. The tree-planting project was mentioned; the trees ordered from the State nursery being expected to arrive in time for planting next Saturday. Several troops have volunteered to help. The May meeting of the leaders will be held at Camp Phillips; probably on the 19th; and will be an afternoon and evening affair.

DISTRICT PLANS MADE

A worthwhile meeting of the district commissioners of Lawrence county was held last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms with commissioner Ralph F. Davis presiding, and a good attendance present. The work of each district was taken up, and the men made brief reports on their troops the others then commenting on methods or helps which might be given the troops needing such help.

The troop achievement program was then taken up and the new men given a line on what it meant to the troops. Camping matters, the first aid meet, rallies, and the summer program generally were then discussed. On account of the Leader's club meeting at Camp Philips on the nineteenth of next month, it was voted to join this group for the May meeting, so that a good sized turnout is anticipated for that time. Three men registered for 1934 as follow: Walter DeArment, J. Harvey Gwin and Richard Steen. Ralph Main represented Ellwood district and gave an interesting report of the work there.

The trophy skin used by the commissioners for awards in their work will be put into use again and each district as it has the highest standing, will use this for three months. Details of this will be given in the near future.

DISTRICT PLANS MADE

A worthwhile meeting of the district commissioners of Lawrence county was held last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms with commissioner Ralph F. Davis presiding, and a good attendance present. The work of each district was taken up, and the men made brief reports on their troops the others then commenting on methods or helps which might be given the troops needing such help.

The troop achievement program was then taken up and the new men given a line on what it meant to the troops. Camping matters, the first aid meet, rallies, and the summer program generally were then discussed. On account of the Leader's club meeting at Camp Philips on the nineteenth of next month, it was voted to join this group for the May meeting, so that a good sized turnout is anticipated for that time. Three men registered for 1934 as follow: Walter DeArment, J. Harvey Gwin and Richard Steen. Ralph Main represented Ellwood district and gave an interesting report of the work there.

The trophy skin used by the commissioners for awards in their work will be put into use again and each district as it has the highest standing, will use this for three months. Details of this will be given in the near future.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby the parts lifeless?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that Eckerd's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. and all good druggists advise every sufferer to get bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today — take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—your money back.

Dental Needs Here Object Of Survey Which Begins Soon

Dental Society To Make Check On Cross-Section Of School Pupils

Seeking to determine the dental needs of a cross-section of Lawrence county's grade school children and selected adult groups in institutions where practicable, the Lawrence County Dental society, cooperating with the Pennsylvania Dental society and the American Dental Association, today prepared to launch a survey which will bring 10 percent of the county's elementary school enrollment under examination.

The nation-wide survey of dental ailments, backed by the United States public health service, will give dental authorities and public health groups a more exact knowledge of the condition of the teeth of the nation's children.

"It can be readily understood" leaders here say, "that an attempt to examine the mouths of the majority of the people of the United States would be an impracticable task, and that this study will of necessity have to be confined to sample localities of each state, consideration being given urban, rural, mining and industrial communities of various sizes."

In dental and medical circles it is known that the groups that lends itself readily to a study of this nature are school children, due to the fact that they are concentrated and available for about nine months out of the year, and it is felt that an accurate cross-section may be obtained from the pupils examinations.

Directing the Lawrence county survey will be Dr. A. G. Reynolds, assisted by Dr. Lee Hamilton, Dr. E. M. Mott, and Dr. Hyman Frank.

PEOPLE AS HAPPY AS BIRDS IN SPRINGTIME

No Reason Why Anyone Should Suffer From Spring Fever, Says the World's Tonic Man

"When the warmth of Spring is felt, everything in Nature changes. All vegetation pulses with activity. Animals become brighter and are more active. Why, then, is it that man alone suffers from so-called 'Spring Fever'?"

That question was put to the World's Tonic man a few days ago. Instantly he answered: "If men lived like the animals they wouldn't have spring fever. But since they eat heavy food all winter, and keep in the houses, their organs fail to throw off all the waste matter and impurities. Then when Spring is at hand, they feel like they couldn't move, and want to lie down and sleep. No wonder. Systems are full of waste, the blood carries a lot of impurities, and often shows its condition in catarrh. What man needs then is something that will clean his blood, correct the catarrhal troubles and give vigor and pep. Why, thousands of people take two or three bottles of World's Tonic every Spring in order to help purify the blood, overcome the catarrhal effects and build up the strength and to help regulate the bowels and the system. You can come pretty near telling such a man by his clear eye, springy step and vim. If all you who have Spring fever would do that, this nation would be as happy as the birds in Spring."

World's Tonic is sold by Eckerd's Paisley's, Smith's and all other good druggists. (A-166)

Dental Needs Here Object Of Survey Which Begins Soon

Dental Society To Make Check On Cross-Section Of School Pupils

Seeking to determine the dental needs of a cross-section of Lawrence county's grade school children and selected adult groups in institutions where practicable, the Lawrence County Dental society, cooperating with the Pennsylvania Dental society and the American Dental Association, today prepared to launch a survey which will bring 10 percent of the county's elementary school enrollment under examination.

The nation-wide survey of dental ailments, backed by the United States public health service, will give dental authorities and public health groups a more exact knowledge of the condition of the teeth of the nation's children.

"It can be readily understood" leaders here say, "that an attempt to examine the mouths of the majority of the people of the United States would be an impracticable task, and that this study will of necessity have to be confined to sample localities of each state, consideration being given urban, rural, mining and industrial communities of various sizes."

In dental and medical circles it is known that the groups that lends itself readily to a study of this nature are school children, due to the fact that they are concentrated and available for about nine months out of the year, and it is felt that an accurate cross-section may be obtained from the pupils examinations.

Directing the Lawrence county survey will be Dr. A. G. Reynolds, assisted by Dr. Lee Hamilton, Dr. B. M. Mott, and Dr. Hyman Frank.

PEOPLE AS HAPPY AS BIRDS IN SPRINGTIME

No Reason Why Anyone Should Suffer From Spring Fever, Says the World's Tonic Man

"When the warmth of Spring is felt, everything in Nature changes. All vegetation pulses with activity. Animals become brighter and are more active. Why, then, is it that man alone suffers from so-called 'Spring Fever?'"

That question was put to the World's Tonic man a few days ago. Instantly he answered: "If men lived like the animals they wouldn't have sring fever. But since they eat heavy food all winter, and keep in the houses, their organs fail to throw off all the waste matter and impurities. Then when Spring is at hand, they feel like they couldn't move, and want to lie down and sleep. No wonder. Systems are full of waste, the blood carries a lot of impurities, and often shows its condition in catarrh. What man needs then is something that will clean his blood, correct the catarrhal troubles and give vigor and pep. Why, thousands of people take two or three bottles of World's Tonic every Spring in order to help purify the blood, overcome the catarrhal effects and build up the strength and to help regulate the bowels and the system. You can come pretty near telling such a man by his clear eye, springy step and vim. If all you who have Spring fever would do that, this nation would be as happy as the birds in Spring."

World's Tonic is sold by Eckerd's Paisley's, Smith's and all other good druggists. (A-166)

PROBE FATAL BUS WRECK AT ELYRIA, OHIO

Six Are Dead In Road Crash

Detroit Bound Bu.. Strikes Truck And Trailer In Accident On Sunday

FOURTEEN OTHER PERSONS INJURED

(International News Service)

ELYRIA, O., April 16.—A coroner's verdict today was expected to fix responsibility for the bus crash near here yesterday in which six men were killed and 14 other persons were injured.

One of those hurt in the accident, which occurred when a Detroit-bound bus of the Nevin Western Bus Lines swerved into two trucks, was expected to die.

The dead are:

John Serbon, 35, Holiday Cover, W. Va.; Earl Kelloff, 35, Lansing, Mich.; Sam Novak, Duquesne, Pa.; Floyd Stainaker, Akron, O.; Christo Vasilovick, 40, Massillon, O., and Michael Frydrych, 29, New York City.

William Daniels, 32, of Pittsburgh, operator of the bus, suffered only minor injuries. According to his account of the tragedy in a statement before a hastily summoned coroner's jury, the bus hit the tail-gate of a large truck parked partly on the road and then swerved into a truck and trailer outfit approaching from the opposite direction.

Daniels alleged that the tail light of the first truck had been out and that he was unable to see it in time to avert the accident.

Machines Demolished.

The first truck was only slightly damaged but the truck and trailers and the bus were almost completely demolished. The top of the bus was sheared off at the window sills and all of those killed were seated on the left side of the bus which bore the brunt of the crash. Most of those aboard the bus were asleep at the time of the accident.

Earl L. Kirkpatrick of Columbus, O., driver of the truck and trailer, said that he "ditched" his vehicles in an attempt to avoid the accident.

"When it (the bus) came around that other truck I saw it was a bus," he later explained. "I figured it was only my life against a bus load of people and turned into the ditch."

Now the radio can control machines at a distance. Oh, for a machine to control radios that way.

Freight Wreck West Of Kane

Thirty-four Cars Pile Up In Mishap On Sunday; Route Blocked

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., April 16—The Pennsylvania railroad expected to resume traffic today over its Renova division after the worst freight train wreck in the history of this section.

Thirty-four cars on a fast Erie to Philadelphia freight, plied up at Tiona, 18 miles west of here, early yesterday. Early today the track was still blocked and passeneger trains were being routed via Warren, Olean and Emporium.

Tank cars loaded with oil ignited and set the mass of wreckage ablaze. Firemen were summoned from Kane, Warren and Sheffield and late last night water was still being pumped from a nearby creek onto the still smouldering debris.

None of the train crew was injured and as far as could be learned there were no train riders on the wrecked cars.

Wreck crews from Erie and Renovo are clearing the right-of-way and relaying tracks, about 500 feet of which were destroyed. Damage was estimated unofficially at approximately $200,000.

It was the first time in memory of the oldest inhabitants that no trains passed through here for 24 hours owing to the tie up. Cause of the wreck had not been determined today. Company officials were investigating.

Wealthy Recluse Is Found Slain

Probe Finding Of Fingerprints And Print Of Woman's Foot In Sand

SLAYERS TOOK SUM OF $10,000

(International News Service)

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., April 16.—With two fingerprints taken from liquor glasses and the dainty print of a girl's shoe in the sand as their principal clues, police today hunted a young woman and two men wanted for the murder of Arthur Todd, wealthy 70-year-old recluse whose body was found on the rocky beach of his Bell Island estate near here.

Believed to have been drugged, robbed of $10,000 and then pushed off the seawall, Todd was thought to have been lured to the cliff by a pretty young woman whose footprints were found in the sand. Beside them were the prints of the aged man's heavier shoes. Both prints led from the beach to the cliff where police believe the girl's accomplices attacked Todd and hurled him to his death. His empty wallet was found nearby.

The American Legion Auxiliary, Mt. Jackson

Dear Auxiliary Members and Friends:—Many weeks have passed since I last talked to you in these columns and just as you have been busy with your work and I with mine so has the auxiliary as a unit been busy.

We have passed all former records in membership and now have on our roll five more than last year. For this we are very thankful as it shows that more of you women who are eligible are realizing just how much the American Legion auxiliary can mean to you.

Our welfare work has been progressing and since I wrote you before we have made 14 eight-year-old dresses to be distributed to needy children and we know many little girls will be delighted with these dainty models.

Plans for our poppy sale are in progress. The custom of wearing poppies in memory of the war dead is 15 years old this year and is generally observed throughout the English speaking world. In the United States the women of the American Legion auxiliary have developed it into a great national program for commemorating the services of those who died and for bringing aid to those who sacrificed health and strength in the nation's service.

All of the poppies are made by disabled veterans as the label on each poppy shows. Early in the winter the making of poppies began in government hospitals and special workrooms maintained by the auxiliary throughout the country. Hands of disabled veterans, weary of idleness, were given employment shaping the little flowers. A penny was paid for each poppy to the veteran making it. Many of them make 300 of the flowers in a day and to the families of these men the money earned often means food, shelter and fuel for the winter.

The wearing of the poppy draws its wide appeal from its dual purpose of honoring the dead and serving the living. Every red flower on a lapel on "Poppy Day" means that the wearer has thought of the men who lie beneath the poppies in France, and has contributed something to the relief and rehabilitation of the men, women and children who are still fighting the long battle against physical and financial handicaps resulting from war service.

We are counting on each one of you to do your part.

Legionally,
HELEN KENNY,
Unit President.

PROBE FATAL BUS WRECK AT ELYRIA, OHIO

Six Are Dead In Road Crash

FOURTEEN OTHER PERSONS INJURED

(International News Service)

ELYRIA, O., April 16.—A coroner's verdict today was expected to fix responsibility for the bus crash near here yesterday in which six men were killed and 14 other persons were injured.

One of those hurt in the accident, which occurred when a Detroit-bound bus of the Nevin Western Bus Lines swerved into two trucks, was expected to die.

The dead are:

John Serbon, 35, Holiday Cover, W. Va.; Earl Kelloff, 35, Lansing, Mich.; Sam Novak, Duquesne, Pa.; Floyd Stainaker, Akron, O.; Christo Vasilovick, 40, Massillon, O., and Michael Frydrych, 29, New York City.

William Daniels, 32, of Pittsburgh, operator of the bus, suffered only minor injuries. According to his account of the tragedy in a statement before a hastily summoned coroner's jury, the bus hit the tail-gate of a large truck parked partly on the road and then swerved into a truck and trailer outfit approaching from the opposite direction.

Daniels alleged that the tail light of the first truck had been out and that he was unable to see it in time to avert the accident.

Machines Demolished.

The first truck was only slightly damaged but the truck and trailers and the bus were almost completely demolished. The top of the bus was sheared off at the window sills and all of those killed were seated on the left side of the bus which bore the brunt of the crash. Most of those aboard the bus were asleep at the time of the accident.

Earl L. Kirkpatrick of Columbus, O., driver of the truck and trailer, said that he "ditched" his vehicles in an attempt to avoid the accident.

"When it (the bus) came around that other truck I saw it was a bus," he later explained. "I figured it was only my life against a bus load of people and turned into the ditch."

Now the radio can control machines at a distance. Oh, for a machine to control radios that way.

Freight Wreck West Of Kane

Thirty-four Cars Pile Up In Mishap On Sunday; Route Blocked

(International News Service)

KANE,, Pa., April 16—The Pennsylvania railroad expected to resume traffic today over its Renova division after the worst freight train wreck in the history of this section.

Thirty-four cars on a fast Erie to Philadelphia freight, piled up at Tiona, 18 miles west of here, early yesterday. Early today the track was still blocked and passeneger trains were being routed via Warren, Olean and Emporium.

Tank cars loaded with oil ignited and set the mass of wreckage ablaze. Firemen were summoned from Kane, Warren and Sheffield and late last night water was still being pumped from a nearby creek onto the still smouldering debris.

None of the train crew was injured and as far as could be learned there were no train riders on the wrecked cars.

Wreck crews from Erie and Renovo are clearing the right-of-way and relaying tracks, about 500 feet of which were destroyed. Damage was estimated unofficially at approximately $200,000.

It was the first time in memory of the oldest inhabitants that no trains passed through here for 24 hours owing to the tie up. Cause of the wreck had not been determined today. Company officials were investigating.

Machines Demolished.

The first truck was only slightly damaged but the truck and trailers and the bus were almost completely demolished. The top of the bus was sheared off at the window sills and all of those killed were seated on the left side of the bus which bore the brunt of the crash. Most of those aboard the bus were asleep at the time of the accident.

Earl L. Kirkpatrick of Columbus, O., driver of the truck and trailer, said that he "ditched" his vehicles in an attempt to avoid the accident.

"When it (the bus) came around that other truck I saw it was a bus," he later explained. "I figured it was only my life against a bus load of people and turned into the ditch."

Now the radio can control machines at a distance. Oh, for a machine to control radios that way.

Freight Wreck West Of Kane

Thirty-four Cars Pile Up In Mishap On Sunday; Route Blocked

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., April 16—The Pennsylvania railroad expected to resume traffic today over its Renova division after the worst freight train wreck in the history of this section.

Thirty-four cars on a fast Erie to Philadelphia freight, piled up at Tiona, 18 miles west of here, early yesterday. Early today the track was still blocked and passeneger trains were being routed via Warren, Olean and Emporium.

Tank cars loaded with oil ignited and set the mass of wreckage ablaze. Firemen were summoned from Kane, Warren and Sheffield and late last night water was still being pumped from a nearby creek onto the still smouldering debris.

None of the train crew was injured and as far as could be learned there were no train riders on the wrecked cars.

Wreck crews from Erie and Renovo are clearing the right-of-way and relaying tracks, about 500 feet of which were destroyed. Damage was estimated unofficially at approximately $200,000.

It was the first time in memory of the oldest inhabitants that no trains passed through here for 24 hours owing to the tie up. Cause of the wreck had not been determined today. Company officials were investigating.

Wealthy Recluse Is Found Slain

Probe Finding Of Fingerprints And Print Of Woman's Foot In Sand

SLAYERS TOOK SUM OF $10,000

(International News Service)

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., April 16.—With two fingerprints taken from liquor glasses and the dainty print of a girl's shoe in the sand as their principal clues, police today hunted a young woman and two men wanted for the murder of arthur Todd, wealthy 70-year-old recluse whose body was found on the rocky beach of his Bell Island estate near here.

Believed to have been drugged, robbed of $10,000 and then pushed off the seawall, Todd was thought to have been lured to the cliff by a pretty young woman whose footprints were found in the sand. Beside them were the prints of the aged man's heavier shoes. Both prints led from the beach to the cliff where police believe the girl's accomplices attacked Todd and hurled him to his death. His empty wallet was found nearby.

The American Legion Auxiliary, Mt. Jackson

Dear Auxiliary Members and Friends:—Many weeks have passed since I last talked to you in these columns and just as you have been busy with your work and I with mine so has the auxiliary as a unit been busy.

We have passed all former records in membership and now have on our roll five more than last year. For this we are very thankful as it shows that more of you women who are eligible are realizing just how much the American Legion auxiliary can mean to you.

Our welfare work has been progressing and since I wrote you before we have made 14 eight-year-old dresses to be distributed to needy children and we know many little girls will be delighted with these dainty models.

Plans for our poppy sale are in progress. The custom of wearing poppies in memory of the war dead is 15 years old this year and is generally observed throughout the English speaking world. In the United States the women of the American Legion auxiliary have developed it into a great national program for commemorating the services of those who died and for bringing aid to those who sacrificed health and strength in the nation's service.

All of the poppies are made by disabled veterans as the label on each poppy shows. Early in the winter the making of poppies began in government hospitals and special workrooms maintained by the auxiliary throughout the country. Hands of disabled veterans, weary of idleness, were given employment shaping the little flowers. A penny was paid for each poppy to the veteran making it. Many of them make 300 of the flowers in a day and to the families of these men the money earned often means food, shelter and fuel for the winter.

The wearing of the poppy draws its wide appeal from its dual purpose of honoring the dead and serving the living. Every red flower on a lapel on "Poppy Day" means that the wearer has thought of the men who lie beneath the poppies in France, and has contributed something to the relief and rehabilitation of the men, women and children who are still fighting the long battle against physical and financial handicaps resulting from war service.

We are counting on each one of you to do your part.

Legionally,
HELEN KENNY,
Unit President.

New Canal Scheme Is Given Approval

BEAVER, Pa., April 16.—The plan of Norman S. Powell of Sharon to extend the proposed Ohio river and Lake Erie canal from New Castle to Sharon and tap the Pymatuning dam for a water supply for the Beaver and Mahoning rivers meets with the approval of Beaver valley advocates of the canal. This plan, it is reported, would meet with the approval of both United States Senators David A. Reed and James J. Davis.

Some middle-aged sissies go to bed with a bad cold; he-men tough it out and are survived by a wife and five children.

Awful thought. What if the nation-savers form a union or legion and dare Congress to take them off the payroll.

New Canal Scheme Is Given Approval

BEAVER, Pa., April 16.—The plan of Norman S. Powell of Sharon to extend the proposed Ohio river and Lake Erie canal from New Castle to Sharon and tap the Pymaturing dam for a water supply for the Beaver and Mahoning rivers meets with the approval of Beaver valley advocates of the canal. This plan, it is reported, would meet with the approval of both United States Senators David A. Reed and James J. Davis.

Some middle-aged sissies go to bed with a bad cold; he-men tough it out and are survived by a wife and five children.

Awful thought. What if the nation-savers form a union or legion and dare Congress to take them off the payroll.

RWD And Unemployed Workers Union Ask Biddle For Investigation

In a letter to Eric Biddle, director of the State Emergency Relief board at Harrisburg, the Unemployed Workers Union of Lawrence County, which comprises workers of the RWD and those not at work, the chairman and secretary of the group ask for an investigation of the local director of the Emergency Relief board.

For some time there has been dissatisfaction over the manner in which relief cases have been investigated and the manner of granting coal and Biddle is asked for the answer to the questions. The letter which is below, was also sent to Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States; Harry Hopkins, federal administrator, and Governor Gifford Pinchot.

New Castle, Pa.,
April 14, 1934.

Eric Biddle,
State Emergency Relief,
Harrisburg, Pa.

We, the delegates representing RWD and Unemployed Workers Union of Lawrence County,

(1) Are desirous of an explanation of how you can justify holding up our over-due pay?

(2) Will you explain why it is necessary for hungry families to wait from four hours to three days for investigation before they can receive their relief orders, when relief would have been unnecessary had they received their over-due pay?

Can you justify the refusal of your local executive director in refusing coal to families who are in distress on account of prolonged winter weather. He refuses to answer this. Will you?

It is our opinion that the families on relief have already been thoroughly investigated, and we are of the opinion that an investigation into your local director's office would be in order, and would eliminate a great amount of unrest and unnecessary suffering.

Signed,
E. P. HARTMAN, chairman.

INDIGESTION RELIEVED FOR NEW CASTLE MAN AND WIFE

Gastritis, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Were Very Troublesome; Liver Was Lazy, Often Felt Dizzy, Tell How Vendol Brought Relief.

MR. SAMUEL LEASURE

"The reason I am such a strong friend to Vendol is because it has done so much not only for me, but also for my wife, Margaret," declared Mr. Samuel Leasure residing on Route 2, New Castle, to the Vendol Man in the New Castle Drug Company.

"I had indigestion so bad that there was a bloating and pressure of gas in the pit of my stomach which felt like it would cut off my breath at times when at the worst. Most anything sour would bring on these attacks. My food would come up and sometimes a green, bitter, ugly liquid would rise up in my mouth.

"When these stomach upsets came on, I'd get very little sleep, as I'd be restless all night, then next day feel tired out.

"I've worn a belt next to my skin for twenty years on account of lumbago, and I had aching pains in my arms and shoulders.

"Vendol was so highly spoken of for my troubles I decided to try it, and I've found it exactly as represented. It has helped my stomach so much that I'm no longer troubled by the gas or the pressure against my heart. The sourness and shortness of breath have been relieved. I sleep well, and no longer feel tired and sluggish. The pains in my arms and shoulders have been completely relieved.

"My wife often looked pale and sick from spells of indigestion, and would have to lie down. Vendol has done her a world of good, and has completely relieved this condition. It has been a boon to both of us, and we gladly add our praise for it."

Make up your mind to begin taking Vendol and put yourself on the road to better health. Come to the New Castle Drug Company, 31 E. Washington Street, ask for me, the Vendol Man, and I'll explain all about my grand medicine that is helping so many people right here in town, and tell you honestly what you may expect it to do for you—so come today if possible.

INDIGESTION RELIEVED FOR NEW CASTLE MAN AND WIFE

Gastritis, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Were Very Troublesome; Liver Was Lazy, Often Felt Dizzy. Tell How Vendol Brought Relief.

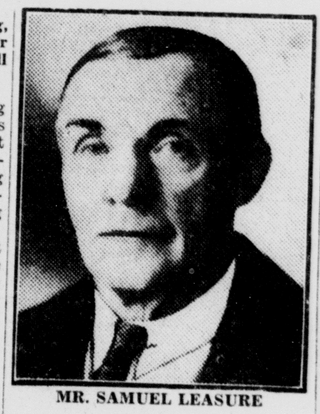

"The reason I am such a strong friend to Vendol is because it has done so much not only for me, but also for my wife, Margaret," declared Mr. Samuel Leasure residing on Route 2, New Castle, to the Vendol Man in the New Castle Drug Company.

"I had indigestion so bad that there was a bloating and pressure of gas in the pit of my stomach which felt like it would cut off my breath at times when at the worst. Most anything sour would bring on these attacks. My food would come up and sometimes a green, bitter, ugly liquid would rise up in my mouth.

"When these stomach upsets came on, I'd get very little sleep, as I'd be restless all night, then next day feel tired out.

"I've worn a belt next to my skin for twenty years on account of lumbago, and I had aching pains in my arms and shoulders.

"Vendol was so highly spoken of for my troubles I decided to try it, and I've found it exactly as represented. It has helped my stomach so much that I'm no longer troubled by the gas or the pressure against my heart. The sourness and shortness of breath have been relieved. I sleep well, and no longer feel tired and sluggish. The pains in my arms and shoulders have been completely relieved.

MR. SAMUEL LEASURE

"My wife often looked pale and sick from spells of indigestion, and would have to lie down. Vendol has done her a world of good, and has completely relieved this condition. It has been a boon to both of us, and we gladly add our praise for it."

Make up your mind to begin taking Vendol and put yourself on the road to better health. Come to the New Castle Drug Company, 31 E. Washington Street, ask for me, the Vendol Man, and I'll explain all about my grand medicine that is helping so many people right here in town, and tell you honestly what you may expect it to do for you—so come today if possible.

New Rule For Tie Games In Basketball

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 16.—Basketball teams in high school tournaments next season will use the "sudden death" method of deciding tie games, under a ruling adopted by the national basketball committee at its two-day conference here. Victory will go to the first team to score two points in the extra period of an overtime game.

This system also may be adopted by mutual agreement of any two college quintets, it was stated, although incorporation of the rule in the code for all teams is not expected for several years.

Eight other minor changes made included a penalty of one technical foul for each minute of delay when a team fails to report ready for play at the start of each half.

SPYING ON SPORTS

With a bolstered outfield, a fair catching staff, what looks like the best infield in the circuit and a pitching staff which may be great or just good, the Washington Senators appear to be the best looking pennant prospect in the American league.

This will be disputed in New York because the Yankees have added a new keystone combination in Red Rolfe and Don Heffner. Gotham fans remember how the new second base duo of Tony Lazzeri and Mark Koenig changed the seventh place 1925 Yankees into the pennant winners of 1926.

However, the Senators of 1933, looking not quite so strong as the current capital nine won the flag with something to spare. To that add the fact that Babe Ruth, admitted by all to be the bellwether of the New Yorks, isn't expected by many to play even 100 games this year.

One must string along with the Senators.

* * *

Third place or higher may well be the berth of the Cleveland Indians. The Ohio club would be in the thick of the fight if infield weaknesses were not so glaring. The Tribe must start with the youngest and most inexperienced inside patrol in the circuit.

Counteracting this the Indians have what is potentially the best pitching staff in the American league and an outfield that should prove the envy of the other seven clubs. The catching appears adequate.

Detroit began the training season with high hopes, but as the official grind nears Mickey Cochrane's Tigers do not look like better guesses than fourth place.

Another team that, on paper, appeared of better grade in February than it does on the field in April is the Boston Red Sox. Lefty Grove's lame arm has upset all the calculations of those who figured the Bean Town band were sure to win a first division spot.

* * *

The Chicago White Sox will be either a vastly improved club or the same sort of team they were in 1933. Enough strength has been added during the off season to assure Windy City fans their favorites will do no worse than they did last year.

Connie Mack wrecked his club when he sold several of the greatest stars in the majors to rival clubs during the winter. However, the canny veteran has enough promising youngsters in his lineup to almost insure a better team than the St. Louis Browns.

All of which is to the point that the Macks appear just good enough to keep out of the cellar. Jimmy Foxx, the A's first baseman, is the greatest batter in the big leagues today, but that's not enough to make up for lack of even fair pitching material.

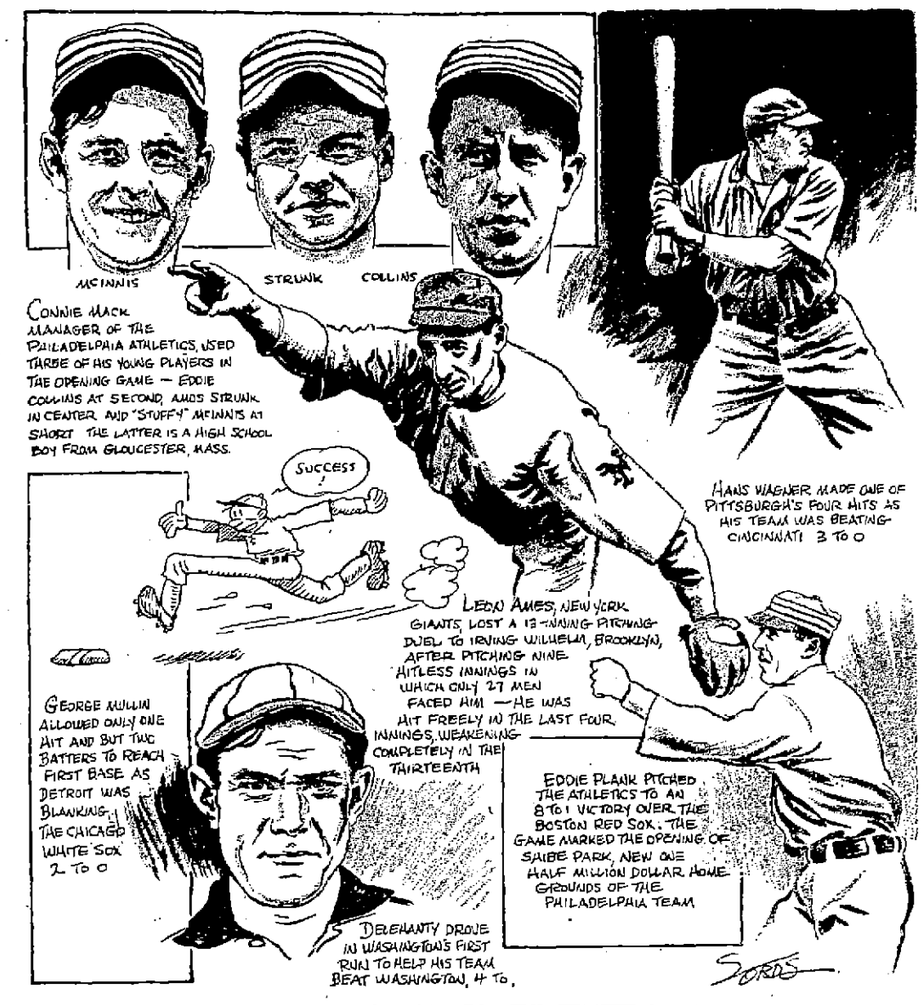

The Browns are reported to be improved—but so are all the other clubs.

Baseball Will Start Tuesday

Big League Teams Ready For Opening Battles Tomorrow; Senators Open Today

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 16.—There's really nothing to be alarmed about. Large numbers of the population will be affected, of course, especially in eight or nine of the principal cities, and while the victim is often violent, he invariably recovers and is a better man for it. For, after all, it's only the annual epidemic of dementia americana, a light summer complaint like chicken pox or maybe dandruff, brought on by the fact that the baseball season is about to begin.

Today, the virus will enter the life stream of the nation's capital at Washington, momentarily affecting even the president himself. Meantime, the rest of them are ready and waiting for the general and formal opening tomorrow. However, I'd like to amend that. Some of them are just waiting.

Two of those suspected of being the latter are today's principals in the Washington inaugural, the champion senators and the Boston Red Sox. The latter have very little to be ready about, with Grove's $125,000 arm supposedly ailing and fit only for the coroner. The Senators are being convicted on circumstantial evidence. They're practically the same team that couldn't win in the last world series and sameness on the ball field is often another word for weakness.

Yanks and Cubs

However, the hot teams of the two circuits are supposed to be the Yankees and Cubs, thus presenting a fair idea of just how consistent baseball reasoning can be.

The Cubs are being tipped because they have Klein and some pitching, the Yankees because every baseball writer in the town is a natural cheer leader.

The situation with the world's champion Giants is little more complicated. The Giants are not getting along with the new ball and, according to various accounts, Will Terry is not getting along with anybody. They say now that he and the reporters have become estranged, which is, to say the least, doubtful strategy.

Cards Unimpressive

I can't get people to become as impressed as I am with the Cardinals and, oddly, for the same reason. They think that Frank Frisch is not popular enough with his players, though what could be less popular with a player than not getting $3,000 or $4,000 out of a world series I cannot imagine.

Incidentally, I would call your attention to the fact that nobody is touting the Pirates this time, which may be an excellent sign, and that Connie Mack seems to have found a pitcher or two. Three more and he'll have a ball club.

Trout Season Is Under Way Today

Hundreds of fishermen today wended their way to the various streams of Lawrence county and no doubt by this time some of them have captured trout.

Most of them went to Elliott's run, Big run, Hettenbaugh run, Little Neshannock, Deer creek, or Taylor run. Very few visited the Slippery Rock as no trout were stocked in that creek.

The water was not so high yesterday. It was clear and no doubt some of the anglers will have good luck with the wary trout.

Persons who catch trout should fill out the accompanying form and either mail it, or drop it in the mail slot at The News office, North Mercer street.

New Rule For Tie Games In Basketball

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 16.—Basketball teams in high school tournaments next season will use the "sudden death" method of deciding tie games, under a ruling adopted by the national basketball committee at its two-day conference here. Victory will go to the first team to score two points in the extra period of an overtime game.

This system also may be adopted by mutual agreement of any two college quintets, it was stated, although incorporation of the rule in the code for all teams is not expected for several years.

Eight other minor changes made included a penalty of one technical foul for each minute of delay when a team fails to report ready for play at the start of each half.

Independent Loop Managers To Meet At "Y" Tuesday

All managers and officials of the Independent baseball league will meet at the "Y" at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. This meeting will be for the purpose of making final arrangements for the season.

There are eleven teams in the league at the present time. It is hoped that a twelfth team can be secured. Kenneth Lutz, acting president of the league will have charge of the meeting.

Banquet Planned At East Brook

Plans are being made for the annual East Brook Athletic Association banquet to be held Friday night at 6:30 o'clock at the East Brook High auditorium. The banquet is for members of the East Brook A. A. basketball teams.

All reservations for tickets must be in by Wednesday evening. No tickets will be sold at the door the night of the banquet. The tickets may be secured from the following: Mrs. Edna Kennedy, chairman of the banquet committee; Miss Edna Waddington, treasurer, and Mrs. Omar Fink, chairman of the ticket committee.

ST. ANDREWS TO MEET

St. Andrews church mushball team will hold an important meeting at the church basement Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, according to an announcement by Earnest Riley, business manager today. St. Andrews is planning to put a strong team on the field this summer.

SOMEONE'S HAPPY

In the window of a residence appeared a notice: "Piano for Sale."

In the window of the house next door appeared the one word "Hurrah!"

SPYING ON SPORTS

With a bolstered outfield, a fair catching staff, what looks like the best infield in the circuit and a pitching staff which may be great or just good, the Washington Senators appear to be the best looking pennant prospect in the American league.

This will be disputed in New York because the Yankees have added a new keystone combination in Red Rolfe and Don Heffner. Gotham fans remember how the new second base duo of Tony Lazzeri and Mark Koenig changed the seventh place 1925 Yankees into the pennant winners of 1926.

However, the Senators of 1933, looking not quite so strong as the current capital nine won the flag with something to spare. To that add the fact that Babe Ruth, admitted by all to be the bellwether of the New Yorks, isn't expected by many to play even 100 games this year.

One must string along with the Senators.

* * *

Third place or higher may well be the berth of the Cleveland Indians. The Ohio club would be in the thick of the fight if infield weaknesses were not so glaring. The Tribe must start with the youngest and most inexperienced inside patrol in the cirsuit.

Counteracting this the Indians have what is potentially the best pitching staff in the American league and an outfield that should prove the envy of the other seven clubs. The catching appears adequate.

Detroit began the training season with high hopes, but as the official grind nears Mickey Cochrane's Tigers do not look like better guesses than fourth place.

Another team that, on paper, appeared of better grade in February than it does on the field in April is the Boston Red Sox. Lefty Grove's lame arm has upset all the calculations of those who figured the Bean Town band were sure to win a first division spot.

* * *

The Chicago White Sox will be either a vastly improved club or the same sort of team they were in 1933. Enough strength has been added during the off season to assure Windy City fans their favorites will do no worse than they did last year.

Connie Mack wrecked his club when he sold several of the greatest stars in the majors to rival clubs during the winter. However, the canny veteran has enough promising youngsters in his lineup to almost insure a better team than the St. Louis Browns.

All of which is to the point that the Macks appear just good enough to keep out of the cellar. Jimmy Foxx, the A's first baseman, is the greatest batter in the big leagues today, but that's not enough to make up for lack of even fair pitching material.

The Browns are reported to be improved—but so are all the other clubs.

Baseball Will Start Tuesday

Big League Teams Ready For Opening Battles Tomorrow; Senators Open Today

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 16.—There's really nothing to be alarmed about. Large numbers of the population will be affected, of course, especially in eight or nine of the principal cities, and while the victim is often violent, he invariably recovers and is a better man for it. For, after all, it's only the annual epidemic of dementia americana, a light summer complaint like chicken pox or maybe dandruff, brought on by the fact that the baseball season is about to begin.

Today, the virus will enter the life stream of the nation's capital at Washington, momentarily affecting even the president himself. Meantime, the rest of them are ready and waiting for the general and formal opening tomorrow. However, I'd like to amend that. Some of them are just waiting.

Two of those suspected of being the latter are today's principals in the Washington inaugural, the champion senators and the Boston Red Sox. The latter have very little to be ready about, with Grove's $125,000 arm supposedly ailing and fit only for the coroner. The Senators are being convicted on circumstantial evidence. They're practically the same team that couldn't win in the last world series and sameness on the ball field is often another word for weakness.

Yanks and Cubs

However, the hot teams of the two circuits are supposed to be the Yankees and Cubs, thus presenting a fair idea of just how consistent baseball reasoning can be.

The Cubs are being tipped because they have Klein and some pitching, the Yankees because every baseball writer in the town is a natural cheer leader.

The situation with the world's champion Giants is little more complicated. The Giants are not getting along with the new ball and, according to various accounts, Will Terry is not getting along with anybody. They say now that he and the reporters have become estranged, which is, to say the least, doubtful strategy.

Cards Unimpressive

I can't get people to become as impressed as I am with the Cardinals and, oddly, for the same reason. They think that Frank Frisch is not popular enough with his players, though what could be less popular with a player than not getting $3,000 or $4,000 out of a world series I cannot imagine.

Incidentally, I would call your attention to the fact that nobody is touting the Pirates this time, which may be an excellent sign, and that Connie Mack seems to have found a pitcher or two. Three more and he'll have a ball club.

Trout Season Is Under Way Today

Hundreds of fishermen today wended their way to the various streams of Lawrence county and no doubt by this time some of them have captured trout.

Most of them went to Elliott's run, Big run, Hettenbaugh run, Little Neshannock, Deer creek, or Taylor run. Very few visited the Slippery Rock as no trout were stocked in that creek.

The water was not so high yesterday. It was clear and no doubt some of the anglers will have good luck with the wary trout.

Persons who catch trout should fill out the accompanying form and either mail it, or drop it in the mail slot at The News office, North Mercer street.

RWD And Unemployed Workers Union Ask Biddle For Investigation

In a letter to Eric Biddle, director of the State Emergency Relief board at Harrisburg, the Unemployed Workers Union of Lawrence County, which comprises workers of the RWD and those not at work, the chairman and secretary of the group ask for an investigation of the local director of the Emergency Relief board.

For some time there has been dissatisfaction over the manner in which relief cases have been investigated and the manner of granting coal and Biddle is asked for the answer to the questions. The letter which is below, was also sent to Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States; Harry Hopkins, federal administrator, and Governor Gifford Pinchot.

New Castle, Pa.,
April 14, 1934.

Eric Biddle,
State Emergency Relief,
Harrisburg, Pa.

We, the delegates representing RWD and Unemployed Workers Union of Lawrence County.

(1) Are desirous of an explanation of how you can justify holding up our over-due pay?

(2) Will you explain why it is necessary for hungry families to wait from four hours to three days for investigation before they can receive their relief orders, when relief would have been unnecessary had they received their over-due pay?

Can you justify the refusal of your local executive director in refusing coal to families who are in distress on account of prolonged winter weather. He refuses to answer this. Will you?

It is our opinion that the families on relief have already been thoroughly investigated, and we are of the opinion that an investigation into your local director's office would be in order, and would eliminate a great amount of unrest and unnecessary suffering.

Signed,
E. F. HARTMAN, chairman.
DOYLE GLOSNER, sec'y.

INDIGESTION RELIEVED FOR NEW CASTLE MAN AND WIFE

Gastritis, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Were Very Troublesome; Liver Was Lazy, Often Felt Dizzy. Tell How Vendol Brought Relief.

MR. SAMUEL LEASURE

"The reason I am such a strong friend to Vendol is because it has done so much not only for me, but also for my wife, Margaret," declared Mr. Samuel Leasure residing on Route 2, New Castle, to the Vendol Man in the New Castle Drug Company.

"I had indigestion so bad that there was a bloating and pressure of gas in the pit of my stomach which felt like it would cut off my breath at times when at the worst. Most anything sour would bring on these attacks. My food would come up and sometimes a green, bitter, ugly liquid would rise up in my mouth.

"When these stomach upsets came on, I'd get very little sleep, as I'd be restless all night, then next day feel tired out.

"I've worn a belt next to my skin for twenty years on account of lumbago, and I had aching pains in my arms and shoulders.

"Vendol was so highly spoken of for my troubles I decided to try it, and I've found it exactly as represented. It has helped my stomach so much that I'm no longer troubled by the gas or the pressure against my heart. The sourness and shortness of breath have been relieved. I sleep well, and no longer feel tired and sluggish. The pains in my arms and shoulders have been completely relieved.

Make up your mind to begin taking Vendol and put yourself on the road to better health. Come to the New Castle Drug Company, 31 E. Washington Street, ask for me, the Vendol Man, and I'll explain all about my grand medicine that is helping so many people right here in town, and tell you honestly what you may expect it to do for you—so come today if possible.

Wirt Probe To End On Tuesday

Investigation Of Charges Of Extreme Radicalism To End With Big Protest

REPUBLICANS ASK FURTHER HEARINGS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Investigation of Dr. William A. Wirt's charges of extreme radicalism in the administration is slated to end tomorrow, with Republicans vigorously protesting.

The six persons who attended a dinner party given by Miss Alice Barrows in Virginia last September 1, were expected to appear and deny that they made revolutionary statements to the Gary educator.

The request of the six that they be allowed to appear voluntarily instead of being subpoenaed was expected to be granted. All have publicly denied Dr. Wirt's report of the after-dinner conversation.

Further Investigation

The Republican minority of the committee, however, was ready to demand a far more exhaustive investigation.

The six expected to appear are: Robert Bruere, chairman NRA textile code committee, to whom no "radical" statements were attributed; David Cushman Coyle, public works administration; Miss Hildegarde Kneeland and Miss Mary Taylor, agriculture department; Laurence Todd, Soviet news agency correspondent, and Miss Alice Barrows, who gave the dinner.

Chairman Bulwinkle (D) of North Carolina, of the investigating committee, was to return to the city today and face the demand of former Senator James A. Reed, counsel for Dr. Wirt, that he apologize for his statement that Dr. Wirt had been confined to jail in Gary during the World War for pro-German activities. The statement was denied by Gary officials.

Twin Sisters In Philadelphia Are Turning To Stone

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Two pretty 11-year-old twin sisters, Katherine and Margaret Maguire, today were revealed as victims of the dreaded ossification disease, which slowly turns the muscles of the body into bone.

The necks, shoulders and arms of the little girls already have a marked rigidity and physicians at the Osteopathic hospital, who diagnosed their ailment as myostis ossifans, fear the disease will spread soon to the lower portions of their bodies.

Very Rare Case.

The affliction of the Philadelphia twins is described as one of the rarest cases uncovered. Medical science, doctors here said know of only 112 cases of the strange malady for which no cure has been found. A recent victim is Benny Hendricks, 9, of Larksville, near Wilkes-Barre.

In spite of the physicians' diagnosis, Peter Maguire, the husky father of the twins, today stoutly asserted his daughters are suffering from athritis and not the dread disease.

Dr. Charles S. Pancoast, the family doctor, said every means is being used to arrest the malady and bring about a quiescent condition, the only known means of combating the calcium deposits which turn the sinews and muscles of the body into stone.

Recently Married Women Teachers Given Notices

Women teachers of the New Castle public schools who have been married in the past year have been given notices by the superintendent that they will not be re-elected for the coming year.

The usual 60-day notice to teachers who will not be re-elected will not be sent at the usual time this year. A request has been granted by the department of public instruction that the 60-day clause be set aside for the New Castle district, which means that the board will have authority to not re-elect teachers until late in the summer.

Under the Harding act of 1929 and and amendment of 1931, boards must notify teachers of the fact that they will not be employed for the coming term, at least 60 days before the close of the current term. Failure to do so automatically hires the teacher for the term to come.

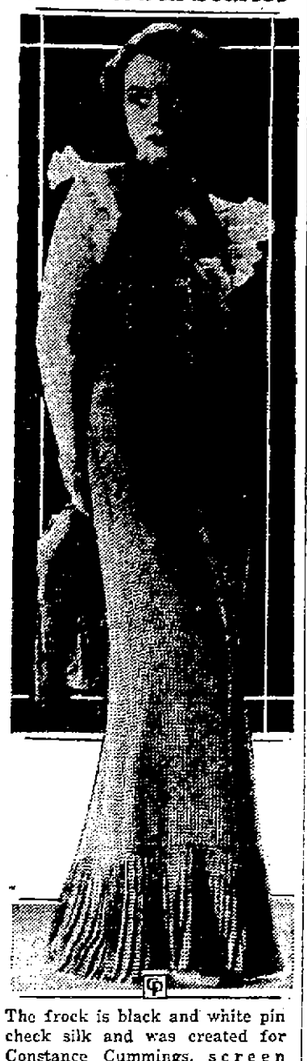

By having this rule suspended for this year the local board can decide in the summer what it will do.

Union Reserves To Be Guests Tonight

At a meeting tonight, followed by a social hour, the New Castle senior high Girl Reserves will have as their guests at the Y. W. C. A. the Girl Reserves from Union high school. Mrs. A. B. The gym was decorated in festival fashion with blue and white streamers. Chaperones were the Misses Margaret Tucker, Jennie Johnston and Katherine Elder. Hours from 8 to 11 were observed.

It is entirely backless, has delightful white fluted ruffles over the shoulders, and is accented by scarlet flowers at the point of the deep V front. A snappy little box jacket and scarlet satin pumps add their chic.

First Baptist Revival Closes

Dr. Oliver Buswell Of Wheaton College, Brings Services To A Close Sunday

The special meetings at the First Baptist church closed last night in a climactic service. Dr. J. Oliver Buswell, president of Wheaton College who has been the guest preacher for two weeks spoke three times on Sunday.

In the morning at 9:30 he addressed a group of 325 men from the First Presbyterian, the First Methodist and the First Baptist churches.

At 11 o'clock he spoke to the morning church congregation which filled the auditorium and the gallery.

At the evening service the Sunday school rooms had to be opened to accommodate the congregation.

Before beginning his final sermon Dr. Buswell expressed his appreciation of the many courtesies which had been shown him in New Castle. He spoke of the quiet and commodious accommodations which he had enjoyed at the Castleton Hotel, of the cordiality of the luncheon clubs to which he had spoken, of the fine spirit which he had found in the public schools. He expressed appreciation of the First Baptist pastor, Rev. C. H. Heaton, of the song leader, John W. Owens, and especially of the talent of Garth Edmundson, the organist.

Dr. Buswell left on a night train. To his delight and surprise when he arrived at the New Castle Junction he found a party of approximately a hundred people gathered to bid him farewell. As he alighted from his car which was piloted by Daniel Reebel the party broke forth with a burst of music in one of the choruses which he had taught at the church.

While the meetings did not result in a great many professions of faith the church feels that they were very successful in deepening the spiritual life of the people and in vitalizing the church.

Wirt Probe To End On Tuesday

REPUBLICANS ASK FURTHER HEARINGS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Investigation of Dr. William A. Wirt's charges of extreme radicalism in the administration is slated to end tomorrow, with Republicans vigorously protesting.

The six persons who attended a dinner party given by Miss Alice Barrows in Virginia last September 1, were expected to appear and deny that they made revolutionary statements to the Gary educator.

The request of the six that they be allowed to appear voluntarily instead of being subpoenaed was expected to be granted. All have publicly denied Dr. Wirt's report of the after-dinner conversation.

Further Investigation

The Republican minority of the committee, however, was ready to demand a far more exhaustive investigation.

The six expected to appear are: Robert Bruere, chairman NRA textile code committee, to whom no "radical" statements were attributed; David Cushman Coyle, public works administration; Miss Hildegarde Kneeland and Miss Mary Taylor, agriculture department; Laurence Todd, Soviet news agency correspondent, and Miss Alice Barrows, who gave the dinner.

Chairman Bulwinkle (D) of North Carolina, of the investigating committee, was to return to the city today and face the demand of former Senator James A. Reed, counsel for Dr. Wirt, that he apologize for his statement that Dr. Wirt had been confined to jail in Gary during the World War for pro-German activities. The statement was denied by Gary officials.

Twin Sisters In Philadelphia Are Turning To Stone

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Two pretty 11-year-old twin sisters, Katherine and Margaret Maguire, today were revealed as victims of the dreaded ossification disease, which slowly turns the muscles of the body into bone.

The necks, shoulders and arms of the little girls already have a marked rigidity and physicians at the Osteopathic hospital, who diagnosed their ailment as myostis ossifans, fear the disease will spread soon to the lower portions of their bodies.

Very Rare Case.

The affliction of the Philadelphia twins is described as one of the rarest cases uncovered. Medical science, doctors here said know of only 112 cases of the strange malady for which no cure has been found. A recent victim is Benny Hendricks, 9, of Larksville, near Wilkes-Barre.

In spite of the physicians' diagnosis, Peter Maguire, the husky father of the twins, today stoutly asserted his daughters are suffering from athritis and not the dread disease.

Dr. Charles S. Pancoast, the family doctor, said every means is being used to arrest the malady and bring about a quiescent condition, the only known means of combating the calcium deposits which turn the sinews and muscles of the body into stone.

Recently Married Women Teachers Given Notices

Women teachers of the New Castle public schools who have been married in the past year have been given notices by the superintendent that they will not be re-elected for the coming year.

The usual 60-day notice to teachers who will not be re-elected will not be sent at the usual time this year. A request has been granted by the department of public instruction that the 60-day clause be set aside for the New Castle district, which means that the board will have authority to not re-elect teachers until late in the summer.

Under the Harding act of 1929 and and amendment of 1931, boards must notify teachers of the fact that they will not be employed for the coming term, at least 60 days before the close of the current term. Failure to do so automatically hires the teacher for the term to come.

By having this rule suspended for this year the local board can decide in the summer what it will do.

First Baptist Revival Closes

Dr. Oliver Buswell Of Wheaton College, Brings Services To A Close Sunday

The special meetings at the First Baptist church closed last night in a climactic service. Dr. J. Oliver Buswell, president of Wheaton College who has been the guest preacher for two weeks spoke three times on Sunday.

In the morning at 9:30 he addressed a group of 325 men from the First Presbyterian, the First Methodist and the First Baptist churches.

At 11 o'clock he spoke to the morning church congregation which filled the auditorium and the gallery.

At the evening service the Sunday school rooms had to be opened to accommodate the congregation.

Before beginning his final sermon Dr. Buswell expressed his appreciation of the many courtesies which had been shown him in New Castle. He spoke of the quiet and commodious accommodations which he had enjoyed at the Castleton Hotel, of the cordiality of the luncheon clubs to which he had spoken, of the fine spirit which he had found in the public schools. He expressed appreciation of the First Baptist pastor, Rev. C. H. Heaton, of the song leader, John W. Owens, and especially of the talent of Garth Edmundson, the organist.

Dr. Buswell left on a night train. To his delight and surprise when he arrived at the New Castle Junction he found a party of approximately a hundred people gathered to bid him farewell. As he alighted from his car which was piloted by Daniel Reebel the party broke forth with a burst of music in one of the choruses which he had taught at the church.

While the meetings did not result in a great many professions of faith the church feels that they were very successful in deepening the spiritual life of the people and in vitalizing the church.

Victory will go to the first team to score two points in the extra period of an overtime game.

This system also may be adopted by mutual agreement of any two college quintets, it was stated, although incorporation of the rule in the code for all teams is not expected for several years.

Eight other minor changes made included a penalty of one technical foul for each minute of delay when a team fails to report ready for play at the start of each half.

SPYING ON SPORTS

With a bolstered outfield, a fair catching staff, what looks like the best infield in the circuit and a pitching staff which may be great or just good, the Washington Senators appear to be the best looking pennant prospect in the American league.

This will be disputed in New York because the Yankees have added a new keystone combination in Red Rolfe and Don Heffner. Gotham fans remember how the new second base duo of Tony Lazzeri and Mark Koenig changed the seventh place 1925 Yankees into the pennant winners of 1926.

However, the Senators of 1933, looking not quite so strong as the current capital nine won the flag with something to spare. To that add the fact that Babe Ruth, admitted by all to be the bellwether of the New Yorks, isn't expected by many to play even 100 games this year.

One must string along with the Senators.

* * *

Third place or higher may well be the berth of the Cleveland Indians. The Ohio club would be in the thick of the fight if infield weaknesses were not so glaring. The Tribe must start with the youngest and most inexperienced inside patrol in the circuit.

Counteracting this the Indians have what is potentially the best pitching staff in the American league and an outfield that should prove the envy of the other seven clubs. The catching appears adequate.

Detroit began the training season with high hopes, but as the official grind nears Mickey Cochrane's Tigers do not look like better guesses than fourth place.

Another team that, on paper, appeared of better grade in February than it does on the field in April is the Boston Red Sox. Lefty Grove's lame arm has upset all the calculations of those who figured the Bean Town band were sure to win a first division spot.

* * *

The Chicago White Sox will be either a vastly improved club or the same sort of team they were in 1933. Enough strength has been added during the off season to assure Windy City fans their favorites will do no worse than they did last year.

Connie Mack wrecked his club when he sold several of the greatest stars in the majors to rival clubs during the winter. However, the canny veteran has enough promising youngsters in his lineup to almost insure a better team than the St. Louis Browns.

All of which is to the point that the Macks appear just good enough to keep out of the cellar. Jimmy Foxx, the A's first baseman, is the greatest batter in the big leagues today, but that's not enough to make up for lack of even fair pitching material.

The Browns are reported to be improved—but so are all the other clubs.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Middleburg cup race at Middleburg, Va., was taken by Drinmore Lad with the veteran Jim Ryan in the saddle Saturday. The horse is owned by Paul Mellon of Pittsburgh. Menelaus and Melita II set the pace but Dinmore Lad kept within striking distance and breezed in a winner, his second victory of two weeks, he having taken the Deep Run Hunt cup in Richmond previously.

Carnegie Library Club, Homestead, won the team championship and Miss Lenore Kight won her second title of the national indoor swimming tourney held at Chicago Saturday. The club made 30 points. Miss Kight swam the 500 yards free style distance in 6:19.1 with June Burr, Miami, runner-up.

Jimmie Dime left early today for DuBois. He was accompanied by Sammy Cracetta, Louie Storte and the Rubino brothers. They will participate in an amateur show there tonight.

The serum, they insisted, is to be used as a preventative, not a cure. First tests on humans are to be made on 12 prisoners selected from some 800 volunteers in the Colorado state prison.

Baseball Will Start Tuesday

Big League Teams Ready For Opening Battles Tomorrow; Senators Open Today

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 16.—There's really nothing to be alarmed about. Large numbers of the population will be affected, of course, especially in eight or nine of the principal cities, and while the victim is often violent, he invariably recovers and is a better man for it. For, after all, it's only the annual epidemic of dementia americana, a light summer complaint like chicken pox or maybe dandruff, brought on by the fact that the baseball season is about to begin.

Today, the virus will enter the life stream of the nation's capital at Washington, momentarily affecting even the president himself. Meantime, the rest of them are ready and waiting for the general and formal opening tomorrow. However, I'd like to amend that. Some of them are just waiting.

Two of those suspected of being the latter are today's principals in the Washington inaugural, the champion senators and the Boston Red Sox. The latter have very little to be ready about, with Grove's $125,000 arm supposedly ailing and fit only for the coroner. The Senators are being convicted on circumstantial evidence. They're practically the same team that couldn't win in the last world series and sameness on the ball field is often another word for weakness.

Yanks and Cubs

However, the hot teams of the two circuits are supposed to be the Yankees and Cubs, thus presenting a fair idea of just how consistent baseball reasoning can be.

The Cubs are being tipped because they have Klein and some pitching, the Yankees because every baseball writer in the town is a natural cheer leader.

The situation with the world's champion Giants is little more complicated. The Giants are not getting along with the new ball and, according to various accounts, Will Terry is not getting along with anybody. They say now that he and the reporters have become estranged, which is, to say the least, doubtful strategy.

Cards Unimpressive

I can't get people to become as impressed as I am with the Cardinals and, oddly, for the same reason. They think that Frank Frisch is not popular enough with his players, though what could be less popular with a player than not getting $3,000 or $4,000 out of a world series I cannot imagine.

Incidentally, I would call your attention to the fact that nobody is touting the Pirates this time, which may be an excellent sign, and that Connie Mack seems to have found a pitcher or two. Three more and he'll have a ball club.

Trout Season Is Under Way Today

Hundreds of fishermen today wended their way to the various streams of Lawrence county and no doubt by this time some of them have captured trout.

Most of them went to Elliott's run, Big run, Hettenbaugh run, Little Neshannock, Deer creek, or Taylor run. Very few visited the Slippery Rock as no trout were stocked in that creek.

The water was not so high yesterday. It was clear and no doubt some of the anglers will have good luck with the wary trout.

Persons who catch trout should fill out the accompanying form and either mail it, or drop it in the mail slot at The News office, North Mercer street.

Costs Are Remitted And Process Revoked

Alex B. Irwin Presented Petition To Court In Chester Sankey Case

In the case of the commonwealth against Chester Sankey, a petition was presented in court this morning by Alex. Irwin, setting forth that in May 1930 he had gone before Squire A. H. Gilmore of Neshannock township to make an information against Sankey, in connection with an auto accident.

He wanted to make the charge reckless driving, but at the suggestion of Gilmore made it malicious mischief. The case was thrown out by a grand jury, and the costs placed on Irwin. Recently a process was issued against Irwin for failure to pay the costs. He set forth in his petition that in the accident his own car was damaged to the extent of $57.60, which he paid. In view of this fact that he had made the charge malicious mischief instead of reckless driving, as he had intended, he asked the costs be remitted. His petition was granted and the process revoked.

Plan To Dispose Of Properties For Which City Has Title

Council met in city hall today where bids were received for several properties to which the city holds title as the result of unpaid taxes several years back. Awards were delayed.

The bids:

Lot eight, section 92, Liberty street, $300, Dr. F. W. Guy.

Lot 194, section 5, Clenmore boulevard, $110, Anna Horner.

Lot 387, section 77, Denver avenue, $38.50, Attorney Gilbert Long for client.

Solicitor White said the advertisement for bids for properties which the city owns title resulted in some instances of the properties being redeemed and the move proved profitable for the city.

All titles will be studied by the solicitor before council sells the lots finally to the bidders.

Approval Is Given Northview Avenue

Road Supervisors James L. Brooks, D. B. Reynolds and William Simon of Neshannock township, presented a petition to court this morning asking approval of Northview avenue, a street taken over by the township supervisors. The street starts in at the New Castle-New Wilmington road, and runs west to Mercer street, a distance of 2086 feet. It was set forth that property owners have released all damages, and the road was approved.

R Nu Club

Miss Josephine Iwanejko of Cedar street will entertain the R. Nu club Wednesday instead of Tuesday as planned previously.

Stock Market Steady Today

Prices Of Pivotal Leaders Hold Within Narrow Range, After Opening

MOTOR SHARES QUITE ACTIVE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 16.—The stock market was a dull but steady affair today with the prices of the pivotal issues holding within a narrow range around Saturday's closing prices.

Such activity as did occur was again concentrated in a few isolated issues including Radio preferred B., Armour preferred, and a few of the low priced merchandising issues.

The motor shares were steady around Saturday's close and sentiment over the group was somewhat improved by the stand of the union leaders on the auto labor board.

Despite the lack of activity in the rails there was a distinctly strong under tone in the group with Atchison, Union Pacific, Lackawanna and Southern Railway advancing fractionally.

Industrials were steady with United States Steel, American Can, and Bethlehem practically unchanged. Utilities were likewise firm.

The silvers were slightly easier reflecting the Washington reports that the president was opposed to any such legislation currently proposed. Oils, chemicals, aviations, and specialties were dull and moved with the rest of the list.

The commodity markets were uninspiring. Wheat, corn and rye lost fractionally and cotton sold off nearly 5 cents a bale.

Costs Are Remitted And Process Revoked

Alex B. Irwin Presented Petition To Court In Chester Sankey Case

In the case of the commonwealth against Chester Sankey, a petition was presented in court this morning by Alex. Irwin, setting forth that in May 1930 he had gone before 'Squire A. H. Gilmore of Neshannock township to make an information against Sankey, in connection with an auto accident.

He wanted to make the charge reckless driving, but at the suggestion of Gilmore made it malicious mischief. The case was thrown out by a grand jury, and the costs placed on Irwin. Recently a process was issued against Irwin for failure to pay the costs. He set forth in his petition that in the accident his own car was damaged to the extent of $57.60, which he paid. In view of this fact that he had made the charge malicious mischief instead of reckless driving, as he had intended, he asked the costs be remitted. His petition was granted and the process revoked.

Plan To Dispose Of Properties For Which City Has Title

Council met in city hall today where bids were received for several properties to which the city holds title as the result of unpaid taxes several years back. Awards were delayed.

The bids:

Lot eight, section 92, Liberty street, $300, Dr. F. W. Guy.

Lot 194, section 5, Clenmore boulevard, $110, Anna Horner.

Lot 387, section 77, Denver avenue, $38.50, Attorney Gilbert Long for client.

All titles will be studied by the solicitor before council sells the lots finally to the bidders.

Stock Market Steady Today

Prices Of Pivotal Leaders Hold Within Narrow Range, After Opening

MOTOR SHARES QUITE ACTIVE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 16.—The stock market was a dull but steady affair today with the prices of the pivotal issues holding within a narrow range around Saturday's closing prices.

Such activity as did occur was again concentrated in a few isolated issues including Radio preferred B., Armour preferred, and a few of the low priced merchandising issues.

The motor shares were steady around Saturday's close and sentiment over the group was somewhat improved by the stand of the union leaders on the auto labor board.

Despite the lack of activity in the rails there was a distinctly strong under tone in the group with Atchison, Union Pacific, Lackawanna and Southern Railway advancing fractionally.

Industrials were steady with United States Steel, American Can, and Bethlehem practically unchanged. Utilities were likewise firm.

The silvers were slightly easier reflecting the Washington reports that the president was opposed to any such legislation currently proposed Oils, chemicals, aviations, and specialties were dull and moved with the rest of the list.

The commodity markets were uninspiring. Wheat, corn and rye lost fractionally and cotton sold off nearly 5 cents a bale.

Investigation Of Charges Of Extreme Radicalism To End With Big Protest

REPUBLICANS ASK FURTHER HEARINGS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Investigation of Dr. William A. Wirt's charges of extreme radicalism in the administration is slated to end tomorrow, with Republicans vigorously protesting.

The six persons who attended a dinner party given by Miss Alice Barrows in Virginia last September 1, were expected to appear and deny that they made revolutionary statements to the Gary educator.

The request of the six that they be allowed to appear voluntarily instead of being subpoenaed was expected to be granted. All have publicly denied Dr. Wirt's report of the after-dinner conversation.

Further Investigation

The Republican minority of the committee, however, was ready to demand a far more exhaustive investigation.

The six expected to appear are: Robert Bruere, chairman NRA textile code committee, to whom no "radical" statements were attributed; David Cushman Coyle, public works administration; Miss Hildegarde Kneeland and Miss Mary Taylor, agriculture department; Laurence Todd, Soviet news agency correspondent, and Miss Alice Barrows, who gave the dinner.

Chairman Bulwinkle (D) of North Carolina, of the investigating committee, was to return to the city today and face the demand of former Senator James A. Reed, counsel for Dr. Wirt, that he apologize for his statement that Dr. Wirt had been confined to jail in Gary during the World War for pro-German activities. The statement was denied by Gary officials.

Twin Sisters In Philadelphia Are Turning To Stone

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Two pretty 11-year-old twin sisters, Katherine and Margaret Maguire, today were revealed as victims of the dreaded ossification disease, which slowly turns the muscles of the body into bone.

The necks, shoulders and arms of the little girls already have a marked rigidity and physicians at the Osteopathic hospital, who diagnosed their ailment as myositis ossifans, fear the disease will spread soon to the lower portions of their bodies.

Very Rare Case.

The affliction of the Philadelphia twins is described as one of the rarest cases uncovered. Medical science, doctors here said know of only 112 cases of the strange malady for which no cure has been found. A recent victim is Benny Hendricks, 9, of Larksville, near Wilkes-Barre.

In spite of the physicians' diagnosis, Peter Maguire, the husky father of the twins, today stoutly asserted his daughters are suffering from athritis and not the dread disease.

Dr. Charles S. Pancoast, the family doctor, said every means is being used to arrest the malady and bring about a quiescent condition, the only known means of combating the calcium deposits which turn the sinews and muscles of the body into stone.

Recently Married Women Teachers Given Notices

Women teachers of the New Castle public schools who have been married in the past year have been given notices by the superintendent that they will not be re-elected for the coming year.

The usual 60-day notice to teachers who will not be re-elected will not be sent at the usual time this year. A request has been granted by the department of public instruction that the 60-day clause be set aside for the New Castle district, which means that the board will have authority to not re-elect teachers until late in the summer.

Under the Harding act of 1929 and and amendment of 1931, boards must notify teachers of the fact that they will not be employed for the coming term, at least 60 days before the close of the current term. Failure to do so automatically hires the teacher for the term to come.

By having this rule suspended for this year the local board can decide in the summer what it will do.

Union Reserves To Be Guests Tonight

The gym was decorated in festival fashion with blue and white streamers. Chaperones were the Misses Margaret Tucker, Jennie Johnston and Katherine Elder. Hours from 8 to 11 were observed.

Accented in Scarlet

The frock is black and white pin check silk and was created for Constance Cummings, screen player. It is entirely backless, has delightful white fluted ruffles over the shoulders, and is accented by scarlet flowers at the point of the deep V front. A snappy little box jacket and scarlet satin pumps add their chic.

ASKED FOR JAIL

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—V. J. Rappeley's desire to get back in jail equaled his previous urge to get out. "I can't afford to be out of jail," he declared in applying to United States Commissioner Gould B. Blakeley for continued lodging in the county jail. Rappeley had been arrested on liquor charges and freed when relatives posted a $1,000 bond.

Correct this sentence: "I know this cosmetic is harmless," said she, "or the magazines wouldn't advertise it."

First Baptist Revival Closes

Dr. Oliver Buswell Of Wheaton College, Brings Services To A Close Sunday

The special meetings at the First Baptist church closed last night in a climactic service. Dr. J. Oliver Buswell, president of Wheaton College who has been the guest preacher for two weeks spoke three times on Sunday.

In the morning at 9:30 he addressed a group of 325 men from the First Presbyterian, the First Methodist and the First Baptist churches.

At 11 o'clock he spoke to the morning church congregation which filled the auditorium and the gallery.

At the evening service the Sunday school rooms had to be opened to accommodate the congregation.

Before beginning his final sermon Dr. Buswell expressed his appreciation of the many courtesies which had been shown him in New Castle. He spoke of the quiet and commodious accommodations which he had enjoyed at the Castleton Hotel, of the cordiality of the luncheon clubs to which he had spoken, of the fine spirit which he had found in the public schools. He expressed appreciation of the First Baptist pastor, Rev. C. H. Heaton, of the song leader, John W. Owens, and especially of the talent of Garth Edmundson, the organist.

Dr. Buswell left on a night train. To his delight and surprise when he arrived at the New Castle Junction he found a party of approximately a hundred people gathered to bid him farewell. As he alighted from his car which was piloted by Daniel Reebel the party broke forth with a burst of music in one of the choruses which he had taught at the church.

While the meetings did not result in a great many professions of faith the church feels that they were very successful in deepening the spiritual life of the people and in vitalizing the church.

Sees Shannon And Schnader Head Of Field

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 16.—With the May 15 primary still one month away, Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon and Attorney General William A. Schnader today were leading the field of 16 entries in the race for the Republican Gubernatorial nomination.

Important political committments made over the week-end aided the Lieutenant Governor and the Attorney General in breaking away from the closely bunched field.

Shifting political tides indicated that forces close to the politically powerful Joseph R. Grunday were leaning towards the Schnader candidacy but the attorney general denied any alliances with the Grundy faction.

Gen. Edward Martin, Republican state chairman, meanwhile continued his efforts to bring about a general party agreement on Shannon's candidacy.

Shipbuilders Shift Battle

Fight For Higher Wages And Union Recognition Taken To National Capitol

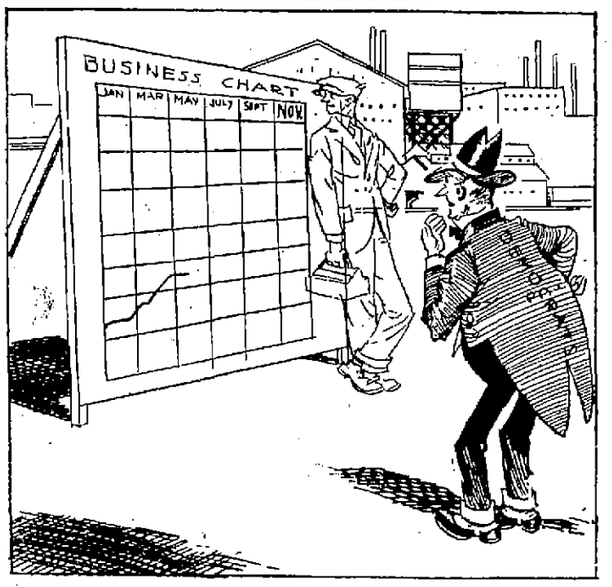

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., April 16.—The New York Shipbuilding corporation's striking workers today shifted their fight for higher wages and union recognition to the nation's capitol.

A delegation of 30, representing the 3100 disgruntled workers and headed by John Green, acting president of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, intend demanding a joint congressional resolution ordering an investigation of $43,000,000 in naval contracts held by their employers.

Administration Bound To Lose Ground On Capitol Hill Unless Times Improve More Rapidly

A JOLT IN CONGRESS AWAITS THE ADMINISTRATION UNLESS TIMES PICK UP TREMENDOUSLY

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Unless times pick up tremendously in the next six months, the Roosevelt administration is due for a sockdolager of a jolt in the November elections of senators and representatives.

Such, anyway, is the impression I get from many talks with Capitol Hill's legislators of both parties, and the various blocs within each of them.

Until lately the Rooseveltian management has figured on gaining at least eight senate seats in the 74th congress; maybe a dozen or even a baker's dozen. It has recognized that its present majority of representatives is abnormal and conceded that it probably will be reduced considerably, but not by more than 50 votes, according to the most pessimistic calculators' reckonings.

• • •

Today, however, administration prognosticators do not count possible senate gains above eight (their previous minimum) and hesitate to prophesy more than three or four with much confidence. As to the representatives, they are willing to admit probable losses of 75 or 80.

Parenthetically—

The Democratic senators now coming up for re-election all are from solidly Democratic states, where they simply can't lose. Among the Republicans are several who got in, in normally Democratic territory, in 1928, when there was a G. O. P. landslide, and where, this year, they naturally are in danger.

Changes in the ranks of the representatives, all of whom are in jeopardy biennially, of course more accurately reflect current public opinion.

• • •

Closing the parenthesis, no political authority denies that the administration will increase its majority in the senate or that it will retain a majority in the house of representatives. However, it generally is agreed that its senate gains will be less and its losses in the house of representatives greater than it had expected—unless, as previously remarked, there is a mighty pronounced economic revival between now and election.

Not only, as prospective congressional candidates diagnose popular sentiment, has the recovery program's results fallen short of the country's anticipations; the national reaction to certain of the relief details adopted by the present Washington regime has taken an unforeseen and unfavorable direction.

• • •

Illustratively, it unquestionably was the idea of the administration's opponents, as well as its supporters, that the hundreds of thousands of folk provided for by it on the government payroll would become stunch adherents of the system they had been made dependent on, for their livings.

Judging from the fashion in which England took to the dole, there would seem to have been justification for this prediction, but in the United States, as indicated by a perfect inundation of correspondence received by lawmakers in Washington, it has not been verified.

The actual number of Americans who want only to be supported, no matter how, is very large, to be sure, but their proportion, in comparsion with the total population, is surprisingly inconsiderable—25 per cent is the highest estimate I have heard ventured by any legislator.

• • •

As an overwhelming general proposition, it is the unmistakable consensus on Capitol Hill that the American employable savagely resents a state of affairs which consigns him to what socialists call "made work" to feed, clothe and shelter himself; what he demands is a basic change in the system which condemns him to such a necessity.

Besides, it isn't a system to make votes among those who want jobs and can't get them—or among those who pay the bills, either.

In short, there are signs of a partial anti-administration revulsion.

It won't be pronounced enough to leave the administration stranded, but it shouldn't cause surprise if it finds itself in somewhat shallow water after next November.

Air Mail Action Being Delayed

Permanent Legislation Unlikely Before Temporary Bids Are Opened

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16—While hope faded today that congress would be able to legislate the permanent return of the air mail service to private aviation before Friday, when the post office opens bids for temporary three-months contracts, support for the McCarran senate bill "taking the air mail out of politics" was gaining in both houses.

A similar measure was introduced in the house of Rep. Wood (D) of Georgia. Meanwhile the Black Air investigating committee resumes its deliberations tomorrow while the army air corps continues to fly the mail on a curtailed schedule.

The measure introduced by Senator McCarran (D) of Nevada would establish a national aviation commission of five members to handle air mail contracts on a prescribed poundage-per mile basis.

Parks Drawing Crowds, Sunday

With fair weather prevailing the crowds visiting Cunningham and Cascade Parks Sunday increased far above the total of the two previous Sundays. More highway was finished through Cunningham Park making it possible for motorists to see more of the park and the connection between Cunningham Park and Cascade boulevard was opened through for the first time.

Work on the park system is being advanced as rapidly as possible and by the summer months the people of New Castle will have ample acreage for recreational purposes.

CALL FIREMEN TO GASOLINE STATION

City firemen were called to the Sunoco gasoline station at Mercer and South street, at 1 o'clock this afternoon. A small fire found inside the station was extinguished by the attendant before firemen reached the scene, the damage being negligible.

Sees Shannon And Schnader Head Of Field

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 16.—With the May 15 primary still one month away, Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon and Attorney General William A. Schnader today were leading the field of 16 entries in the race for the Republican Gubernatorial nomination.

Important political committments made over the week-end aided the Lieutenant Governor and the Attorney General in breaking away from the closely bunched field.

Shifting political tides indicated that forces close to the politically powerful Joseph R. Grunday were leaning towards the Schnader candidacy but the attorney general denied any alliances with the Grundy faction.

Gen. Edward Martin, Republican state chairman, meanwhile continued his efforts to bring about a general party agreement on Shannon's candidacy.

Shipbuilders Shift Battle

Fight For Higher Wages And Union Recognition Taken To National Capitol

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., April 16.—The New York Shipbuilding corporation's striking workers today shifted their fight for higher wages and union recognition to the nation's capitol.

A delegation of 30, representing the 3100 disgruntled workers and headed by John Green, acting president of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, intend demanding a joint congressional resolution ordering an investigation of $43,000,000 in naval contracts held by their employers.

Administration Bound To Lose Ground On Capitol Hill Unless Times Improve More Rapidly

A JOLT IN CONGRESS AWAITS THE ADMINISTRATION UNLESS TIMES PICK UP TREMENDOUSLY

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Unless times pick up tremendously in the next six months, the Roosevelt administration is due for a sockdolager of a jolt in the November elections of senators and representatives.

Such, anyway, is the impression I get from many talks with Capitol Hill's legislators of both parties, and the various blocs within each of them.

Until lately the Rooseveltian management has figured on gaining at least eight senate seats in the 74th congress; maybe a dozen or even a baker's dozen. It has recognized that its present majortiy of representatives is abnormal and conceded that it probably will be reduced considerably, but not by more than 50 votes, according to the most pessimistic Democratic calculators' reckonings.

* * *

Today, however, administration prognosticators do not count possible senate gains above eight (their previous minimum) and hesitate to prophesy more than three or four with much confidence. As to the representatives, they are willing to admit probable losses of 75 or 80.

Parenthetically—

The Democratic senators now coming up for re-election all are from solidly Democratic states, where they simply can't lose. Among the Republicans are several who got in, in normally Democratic territory, in 1928, when there was a G. O. P. landslide, and where, this year, they naturally are in danger.

Changes in the ranks of the representatives, all of whom are in jeopardy biennially, of course more accurately reflect current public opinion.

* * *

Closing the parenthesis, no political authority denies that the administration will increase its majority in the senate or that it will retain a majority in the house of representatives. However, it generally is agreed that its senate gains will be less and its losses in the house of representatives greater than it had expected—unless, as previously remarked, there is a mighty pronounced economic revival between now and election.

Not only, as prospective congressional candidates diagnose popular sentiment, has the recovery program's results fallen short of the country's anticipations; the national reaction to certain of the relief details adopted by the present Washington regime has taken an unforeseen and unfavorable direction.

* * *

Illustratively, it unquestionably was the idea of the administration's opponents, as well as its supporters, that the hundreds of thousands of folk provided for by it on the government payroll would become stunch adherents of the system they had been made dependent on, for their livings.

Judging from the fashion in which England took to the dole, there would seem to have been justification for this prediction, but in the United States, as indicated by a perfect inundation of correspondence received by lawmakers in Washington, it has no been verified.

The actual number of Americans who want only to be supported, no matter how, is very large, to be sure, but their proportion, in comparsion with the total population, is surprisingly inconsiderable—25 per cent is the highest estimate I have heard ventured by any legislator.

* * *

As an overwhelming general proposition, it is the unmistakable consensus on Capitol Hill that the American employable savagely resents a state of affairs which consigns him to what socialists call "made work" to feed, clothe and shelter himself; what he demands is a basic change in the system which condemns him to such a necessity.

Besides, it isn't a system to make votes among those who want jobs and can't get them—or among those who pay the bills, either.

In short, there are signs of a partial anti-administration revulsion.

It won't be pronounced enough to leave the administration stranded, but it shouldn't cause surprise if it finds itself in somewhat shallow water after next November.

BURNING GREASE CAUSE OF ALARM

Grease, which took fire on a stove at The Gables, 23 East North street, Sunday morning resulted in an alarm from box 17. There was no damage.

Firemen were called to Moravia street by an alarm from box 58, at 1 o'clock this morning. No fire could be found on arriving at the scene.

GAS COMPANY TO BUILD NEW LINE

New Four Inch Gas Line Will Be Laid In Moravia Street

Council met today in City Hall and upon recommendation of Engineer Harry Hoskins granted permission to the Manufacturers Light & Heat Company to construct a new four-inch gas line in Moravia street between Big Run bridge north to Division street.

The present line needs considerable repair, the company officials stated in a letter to council.

Hoskins said the state highway is working in Moravia street and the present time is appropriate for the work to get under way.

Air Mail Action Being Delayed

Permanent Legislation Unlikely Before Temporary Bids Are Opened

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16—While hope faded today that congress would be able to legislate the permanent return of the air mail service to private aviation before Friday, when the post office opens bids for temporary three-months contracts, support for the McCarran senate bill "taking the air mail out of politics" was gaining in both houses.

A similar measure was introduced in the house of Rep. Wood (D) of Georgia. Meanwhile the Black Air investigating committee resumes its deliberations tomorrow while the army air corps continues to fly the mail on a curtailed schedule.

The measure introduced by Senator McCarran (D) of Nevada would establish a national aviation commission of five members to handle air mail contracts on a prescribed poundage-per mile basis.

Newsboys' Rally To Attract 250 To Y. M. Tonight

New Castle News And Y Sponsoring Get-Together; Starts At 7:30

Close to 250 New Castle News newsboys—home carriers and street sellers—tonight will gather at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 for a two-hour entertainment period which the New Castle News and the Y together are sponsoring.

Tickets of admission must be carried by every newsboy who expects to participate, it was emphasized this afternoon. The News has distributed the tickets.

Marking the first informal social affair the boys have held for some time, the program, chuck full of fun-provoking features, will be given in the Y's banquet room.

At 7:30 sharp the boys will begin a period of pep singing with W. O. "Red" Williams in charge and with Bob Morgan as the piano accompanist. Next in order will come a baffling display of magic which Don Hoffmaster will conduct, a chalk talk by John B. Davis and a reading by James Smith.

After the reading the boys will hear Fred L. Rentz, president and managing editor of The News, speak. Mr. Rentz is to be present all evening.

Following Mr. Rentz' talk will be a period of motion pictures and at the conclusion of the show a light lunch.

Boys' Work Secretary Harry McClellan of the Y and representatives of The News are in charge of arrangements.

Parks Drawing Crowds, Sunday

With fair weather prevailing the crowds visiting Cunningham and Cascade Parks Sunday increased far above the total of the two previous Sundays. More highway was finished through Cunningham Park making it possible for motorists to see more of the park and the connection between Cunningham Park and Cascade boulevard was opened through for the first time.

Work on the park system is being advanced as rapidly as possible and by the summer months the people of New Castle will have ample acreage for recreational purposes.

CALL FIREMEN TO GASOLINE STATION

City firemen were called to the Sunoco gasoline station at Mercer and South street, at 1 o'clock this afternoon. A small fire found inside the station was extinguished by the attendant before firemen reached the scene, the damage being negligible.

Costs Are Remitted And Process Revoked

Alex B. Irwin Presented Petition To Court In Chester Sankey Case

In the case of the commonwealth against Chester Sankey, a petition was presented in court this morning by Alex. Irwin, setting forth that in May 1930 he had gone before 'Squire A. H. Gilmore of Neshannock township to make an information against Sankey, in connection with an auto accident.

He wanted to make the charge reckless driving, but at the suggestion of Gilmore made it malicious mischief. The case was thrown out by a grand jury, and the costs placed on Irwin. Recently a process was issued against Irwin for failure to pay the costs. He set forth in his petition that in the accident his own car was damaged to the extent of $57.60, which he paid. In view of this fact that he had made the charge malicious mischief instead of reckless driving, as he had intended, he asked the costs be remitted. His petition was granted and the process revoked.

Plan To Dispose Of Properties For Which City Has Title

Council met in city hall today where bids were received for several properties to which the city holds title as the result of unpaid taxes several years back. Awards were delayed.

The bids:

Lot eight, section 92, Liberty street, $300, Dr. F. W. Guy.

Lot 194, section 5, Clenmore boulevard, $110, Anna Horner.

Lot 387, section 77, Denver avenue, $38.50, Attorney Gilbert Long for client.

Solicitor White said the advertisement for bids for properties which the city owns title resulted in some instances of the properties being redeemed and the move proved profitable for the city.

All titles will be studied by the solicitor before council sells the lots finally to the bidders.

Stock Market Steady Today

Prices Of Pivotal Leaders Hold Within Narrow Range, After Opening

MOTOR SHARES QUITE ACTIVE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 16.—The stock market was a dull but steady affair today with the prices of the pivotal issues holding within a narrow range around Saturday's closing prices.

Such activity as did occur was again concentrated in a few isolated issues including Radio preferred B., Armour preferred, and a few of the low priced merchandising issues.

The motor shares were steady around Saturday's close and sentiment over the group was somewhat improved by the stand of the union leaders on the auto labor board.

Despite the lack of activity in the rails there was a distinctly strong under tone in the group with Atchison, Union Pacific, Lackawanna and Southern Railway advancing fractionally.

Industrials were steady, with United States Steel, American Can, and Bethlehem practically unchanged. Utilities were likewise firm.

The silvers were slightly easier reflecting the Washington reports that the president was opposed to any such legislation currently proposed Oils, chemicals, aviations, and specialties were dull and moved with the rest of the list.

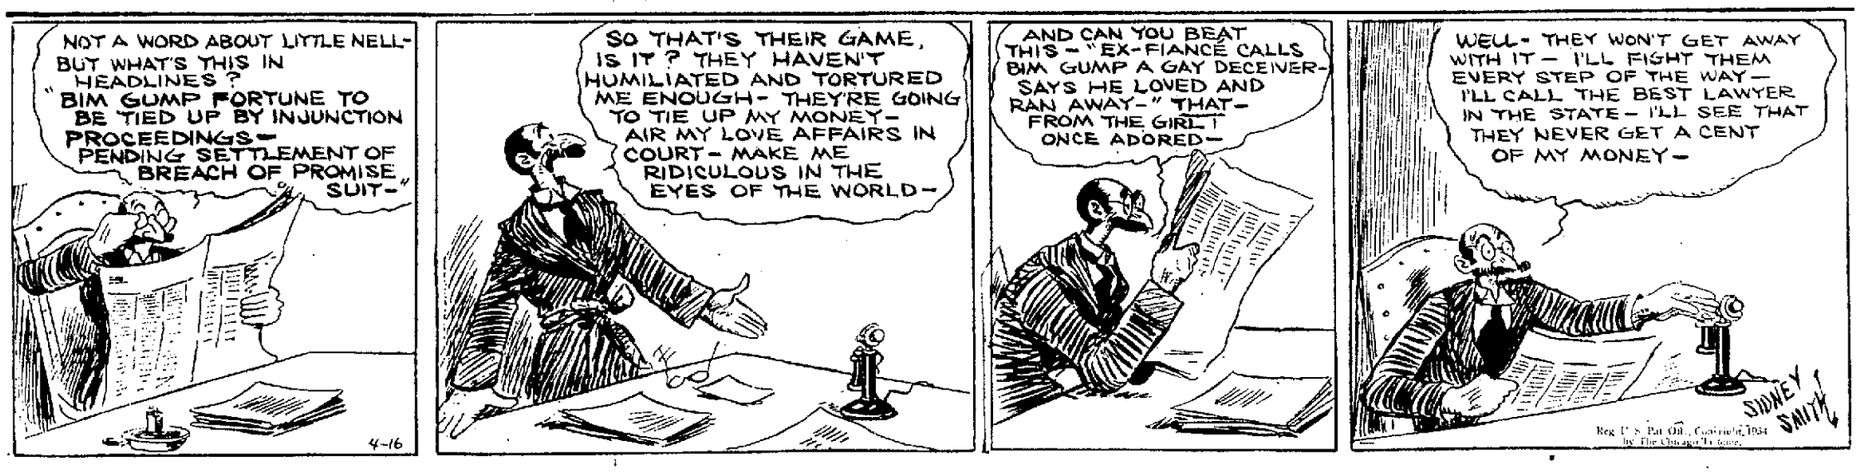

The commodity markets were uninspiring. Wheat, corn and rye lost fractionally and cotton sold off nearly 5 cents a bale.

Local Women At Washington When President Returns

Mrs. E. L. Foster, of North Cedar street, and Mrs. W. T. Saul, of Laurel avenue, have returned home after a most enjoyable trip to Washington, D. C., to see the Japanese cherry tree blossoms.

On Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock they had the treat of seeing President Roosevelt's return to the Capital City from his vacation trip. A huge crowd, including 160 congressmen, gave the president a rousing reception.

The local women report that the white blossoms around the Tidal Basin are out in full but that the pink double blossoms will not be out for two weeks.

MRS. WAID'S CLASS

Members of the Sunday school class of the local Christian church taught by Mrs. W. W. Waid will meet with Miss Doris Bevan, West Clayton street, Tuesday evening.

Dynamited Dog Is Not Gun-Shy

In spite of his terrifying experence with a stick of dynamite a week ago, the hunting hound owned by Joe Wilkison of this ward is not a bit "gun-shy". His master tested him out the other day and found that the dynamite explosion didn't take any of the nerve from the game little fellow.

On Saturday, April 7, the hound was at the Roy Casto farm near here where Mr. Casto and several other men were busy clearing a plot of ground for planting this spring. They placed a charge of dynamite under one large stump, lighted the fuse and hurried off to the place of safety. The dog, however, hadn't had any experience with explosives and so sniffed curiously at the burning fuse. The dynamite exploded and the dog was thrown thirty feet away. An inventory showed that his only injury was the loss of one eye.

LEARN OF DEATH

Mrs. W. R. Bollinger and Clyde Conn, of West Madison avenue received a telegram on Saturday informing them of the death of their uncle, W. F. Conn, of Omaha, Neb. on Friday. Mr. Conn had been visited by the Bollinger family two years ago.

The deceased man leaves his widow, Anna; one son, C. W. Conn; two grandchildren; two brothers, A. L. Conn and J. A. Conn, of New Castle; and two sisters, Mrs. Lucinda Kline and Mrs. J. N. Ellie, both of Salamanca, N. Y.

ANOTHER CHERRY TREE

The Japanese cherry tree at the J. J. Colbert residence, West Clayton street, will have a rival to outblossom this spring. It is that at the Lewis Wettich home, also on West Clayton street, planted last year and due for its first burst of blossoms this spring.

SUPPER THIS EVENING

Six o'clock today will bring members of the Augusta Statzer Auxiliary to the B. of R. T. together for supper at the Clendenin building. The regular lodge meeting will follow.

Young Man Takes Life With Gun

Lovers Quarrel Ends Tragically For Harry E. Troup, Jr., 23, Of Suterville, Pa.

FIVE SHOTS ARE FIRED AT GIRL

(International News Service)

McKEESPORT, Pa., April 16.—A 20-year-old girl wept today over the body of Harry E. Troup, Jr., her 23-year-old boy friend who took his life last night with a shotgun.

Leaving the home of his sweetheart, Mildred Streets, at Suterville, after a quarrel, Troup returned with a .22 calibre pistol and discharged five shots at the girl. All missed and he then turned the weapon on himself, tearing a wound in his side.

Fearing this would not be fatal, he jumped into his automobile and drove home. There he obtained a shotgun and took his life.

Local Women At Washington When President Returns

Mrs. E. L. Foster, of North Cedar street, and Mrs. W. T. Saul, of Laurel avenue, have returned home after a most enjoyable trip to Washington, D. C., to see the Japanese cherry tree blossoms.

On Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock they had the treat of seeing President Roosevelt's return to the Capital City from his vacation trip. A huge crowd, including 160 congressmen, gave the president a rousing reception.

The local women report that the white blossoms around the Tidal Basin are out in full but that the pink double blossoms will not be out for two weeks.

Dynamited Dog Is Not Gun-Shy

In spite of his terrifying experence with a stick of dynamite a week ago, the hunting hound owned by Joe Wilkison of this ward is not a bit "gun-shy". His master tested him out the other day and found that the dynamite explosion didn't take any of the nerve from the game little fellow.

On Saturday, April 7, the hound was at the Roy Casto farm near here where Mr. Casto and several other men were busy clearing a plot of ground for planting this spring. They placed a charge of dynamite under one large stump, lighted the fuse and hurried off to the place of safety. The dog, however, hadn't had any experience with explosives and so sniffed curiously at the burning fuse. The dynamite exploded and the dog was thrown thirty feet away. An inventory showed that his only injury was the loss of one eye.

Mrs. W. R. Bollinger and Clyde Conn, of West Madison avenue received a telegram on Saturday informing them of the death of their uncle, W. F. Conn, of Omaha, Neb. on Friday. Mr. Conn had been visited by the Bollinger family two years ago.

Sees Shannon And Schnader Head Of Field

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 16.—With the May 15 primary still one month away, Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon and Attorney General William A. Schnader today were leading the field of 16 entries in the race for the Republican Gubernatorial nomination.

Important political committments made over the week-end aided the Lieutenant Governor and the Attorney General in breaking away from the closely bunched field.

Shifting political tides indicated that forces close to the politically powerful Joseph R. Grundy were leaning towards the Schnader candidacy but the attorney general denied any alliances with the Grundy faction.

Gen. Edward Martin, Republican state chairman, meanwhile continued his efforts to bring about a general party agreement on Shannon's candidacy.

Shipbuilders Shift Battle

Fight For Higher Wages And Union Recognition Taken To National Capitol

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., April 16.—The New York Shipbuilding corporation's striking workers today shifted their fight for higher wages and union recognition to the nation's capitol.

A delegation of 30, representing the 3100 disgruntled workers and headed by John Green, acting president of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, intend demanding a joint congressional resolution ordering an investigation of $43,000,000 in naval contracts held by their employers.

Administration Bound To Lose Ground On Capitol Hill Unless Times Improve More Rapidly

A JOLT IN CONGRESS AWAITS THE ADMINISTRATION UNLESS TIMES PICK UP TREMENDOUSLY

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Unless times pick up tremendously in the next six months, the Roosevelt administration is due for a sockdolager of a jolt in the November elections of senators and representatives.

Such, anyway, is the impression I get from many talks with Capitol Hill's legislators of both parties, and the various blocs within each of them.

Until lately the Rooseveltian management has figured on gaining at least eight senate seats in the 74th congress; maybe a dozen or even a baker's dozen. It has recognized that its present majority of representatives is abnormal and conceded that it probably will be reduced considerably, but not by more than 50 votes, according to the most pessimistic Democratic calculators' reckonings.

• • •

Today, however, administration prognosticators do not count possible senate gains above eight (their previous minimum) and hesitate to prophesy more than three or four with much confidence. As to the representatives, they are willing to admit probable losses of 75 or 80.

Parenthetically—

The Democratic senators now coming up for re-election all are from solidly Democratic states, where they simply can't lose. Among the Republicans are several who got in, in normally Democratic territory, in 1928, when there was a G. O. P. landslide, and where, this year, they naturally are in danger.

Changes in the ranks of the representatives, all of whom are in jeopardy biennially, of course more accurately reflect current public opinion.

• • •

Closing the parenthesis, no political authority denies that the administration will increase its majority in the senate or that it will retain a majority in the house of representatives. However, it generally is agreed that its senate gains will be less and its losses in the house of representatives greater than it had expected—unless, as previously remarked, there is a mighty pronounced economic revival between now and election.

Not only, as prospective congressional candidates diagnose popular sentiment, has the recovery program's results fallen short of the country's anticipations; the national reaction to certain of the relief details adopted by the present Washington regime has taken an unforeseen and unfavorable direction.

• • •

Illustratively, it unquestionably was the idea of the administration's opponents, as well as its supporters, that the hundreds of thousands of folk provided for by it on the government payroll would become stunch adherents of the system they had been made dependent on, for their livings.

Judging from the fashion in which England took to the dole, there would seem to have been justification for this prediction, but in the United States, as indicated by a perfect inundation of correspondence received by lawmakers in Washington, it has not been verified.

The actual number of Americans who want only to be supported, no matter how, is very large, to be sure, but their proportion, in comparsion with the total population, is surprisingly inconsiderable—25 per cent is the highest estimate I have heard ventured by any legislator.

• • •

As an overwhelming general proposition, it is the unmistakable consensus on Capitol Hill that the American employable savagely resents a state of affairs which consigns him to what socialists call "made work" to feed, clothe and shelter himself; what he demands is a basic change in the system which condemns him to such a necessity.

Besides, it isn't a system to make votes among those who want jobs and can't get them—or among those who pay the bills, either.

In short, there are signs of a partial anti-administration revulsion.

It won't be pronounced enough to leave the administration stranded, but it shouldn't cause surprise if it finds itself in somewhat shallow water after next November.

BURNING GREASE CAUSE OF ALARM

Grease, which took fire on a stove at The Gables, 23 East North street, Sunday morning resulted in an alarm from box 17. There was no damage.

GAS COMPANY TO BUILD NEW LINE

New Four Inch Gas Line Will Be Laid In Moravia Street

Council met today in City Hall and upon recommendation of Engineer Harry Hoskins granted permission to the Manufacturers Light & Heat Company to construct a new four-inch gas line in Moravia street between Big Run bridge north to Division street.

The present line needs considerable repair, the company officials stated in a letter to council.

Hoskins said the state highway is working in Moravia street and the present time is appropriate for the work to get under way.

Air Mail Action Being Delayed

Permanent Legislation Unlikely Before Temporary Bids Are Opened

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 16—While hope faded today that congress would be able to legislate the permanent return of the air mail service to private aviation before Friday, when the post office opens bids for temporary three-months contracts, support for the McCarran senate bill "taking the air mail out of politics" was gaining in both houses.

A similar measure was introduced in the house of Rep. Wood (D) of Georgia. Meanwhile the Black Air Investigating committee resumes its deliberations tomorrow while the army air corps continues to fly the mail on a curtailed schedule.

The measure introduced by Senator McCarran (D) of Nevada would establish a national aviation commission of five members to handle air mail contracts on a prescribed poundage-per mile basis.

Boys' Work Secretary Harry McClellan of the Y and representatives of The News are in charge of arrangements.

Parks Drawing Crowds, Sunday

With fair weather prevailing the crowds visiting Cunningham and Cascade Parks Sunday increased far above the total of the two previous Sundays. More highway was finished through Cunningham Park making it possible for motorists to see more of the park and the connection between Cunningham Park and Cascade boulevard was opened through for the first time.

Work on the park system is being advanced as rapidly as possible and by the summer months the people of New Castle will have ample acreage for recreational purposes.

CALL FIREMEN TO GASOLINE STATION

City firemen were called to the Sunoco gasoline station at Mercer and South street, at 1 o'clock this afternoon. A small fire found inside the station was extinguished by the attendant before firemen reached the scene, the damage being negligible.

Dynamited Dog Is Not Gun-Shy

In spite of his terrifying experience with a stick of dynamite a week ago, the hunting hound owned by Joe Wilkison of this ward is not a bit "gun-shy". His master tested him out the other day and found that the dynamite explosion didn't take any of the nerve from the game little fellow.

On Saturday, April 7, the hound was at the Roy Casto farm near here where Mr. Casto and several other men were busy clearing a plot of ground for planting this spring. They placed a charge of dynamite under one large stump, lighted the fuse and hurried off to the place of safety. The dog, however, hadn't had any experience with explosives and so sniffed curiously at the burning fuse. The dynamite exploded and the dog was thrown thirty feet away. An inventory showed that his only injury was the loss of one eye.
